

Sympathetic Queen Comforts Seamen's Widows

POINTE DU CHENE, N.B. (CP) — The first note of sadness in the happy 15,000-mile royal tour occurred Wednesday as the Queen again charmed the weather and kept her appointments between thunder showers.

Just after she boarded the Britannia a rain squall churned the wide waters of Shediac Bay and then a luminous rainbow provided what Maritimers hope is a clear weather omen. There are only three days left of the 45-day tour ending in Halifax Saturday night. The rain held off long enough for the Queen to make a sympathetic and sometimes cheerful visit with survivors and relatives of victims of the Northumberland Strait fishing fleet disaster.

As the Queen spoke quietly to the widows and children, dressed in black and wearing black armbands, she was obviously moved as some told how tragedy had struck their homes. The little group of disaster victims stood on the wharf-side, sad and almost pathetic in comparison to the gay hundreds in shorts and beach garb who had cheered the royal couple down to the dock. "It was so nice of the Queen to spend the time with us," said Mrs. Burton Chapman of Bay du Vin, one of the widows. "I told her how much we appreciated it and also how much we appreciated her gift to the Fishermen's Disaster Fund. "She started out by asking me to accept her sympathy and I almost started to cry. She understood and then she said something nice and I felt a lot better." The Queen and Prince spoke to all the family representatives and spent considerable time talking to some individuals.

Showing no signs of damage, the Queen Elizabeth eases back towards her New York berth after colliding with a freighter.

No Injuries in Either Ship

Queen Elizabeth Rammed, 2,000 Aboard Imperilled

NEW YORK (AP)—The luxury liner Queen Elizabeth, largest in the world, collided with a freighter in fog Wednesday in New York harbor.

There were no injuries aboard either vessel, although more than 2,000 lives were momentarily endangered.

The freighter, the American Hunter, of the United States Lines, stove a hole in the hull of the 83,000-ton Elizabeth above the water line.

With 1,959 passengers aboard, the queen of Britain's merchant fleet was forced to return to her Hudson River berth for repairs. She was only about 99 minutes out of Pier 50, en route to Europe, when the collision occurred at 12:23 p.m. PDT.

As a scar from the collision, the Elizabeth had a five-foot dent with a three-foot hole in her right side about 20 feet back from the bow.

The American Hunter, 10,460 tons, suffered a 20-foot indentation in her bow, also above the waterline.

Both ships were in pilot waters, where trained harbor pilots direct their movements. And the Elizabeth had radar.

Strikers To Sell Fresh Fish

U.K. Starting First Satellite

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain will begin work on its first space satellite within six months, it was announced Wednesday.

Dozen Parents Swear Oath

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia's troublesome Sons of Freedom Doukhobors are at last attempting to achieve by peaceful co-operation something that four years of demands, threats and violence have failed to accomplish. In a small, quiet courtroom in this Kootenay Valley centre, 34 Freedomite parents are taking the step they hope will lead to the closing of the "prison" which has held some of their children since the fall of 1954—the provincial government dormitory school at nearby New Denver. A dozen or more parents have already sworn an oath on bread, salt and water—that they will send their children to public school this fall if the court grants their release from the New Denver institution. The others have indicated they are prepared to take a similar oath this week. Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans, a former grocer who has patiently heard scores of Freedomite complaints and tried to solve some of their problems in his 10 years on the bench, will decide Friday whether 75 children should be released. ### Hecklers Harass Visitor

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has told Vice-President Richard M. Nixon that peaceful co-existence is the only reasonable policy for the world.

Khrushchev told Nixon that he sees no sign of war, but that he wants more proof that the United States desires peace, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

"The Soviet government does everything to prevent war," Tass quoted Khrushchev. "We believe that the barometer does not now point to war. Tendencies towards safeguarding peace prevail in all countries."

SVERDLOVSK, U.S.S.R. (UPI)—Vice-president Richard Nixon ran into harassing give-and-take questioning by four hecklers in Novosibirsk and Sverdlovsk yesterday. He suspected the hecklers were planted among Soviet workers with whom he talked.

In offering a toast to Nixon before he left Novosibirsk, Yuri Zhukov, head of the Soviet committee for cultural relations with foreign countries, was reported to have recalled that American workers threw rotten eggs at first deputy premier Anastas I. Mikoyan when he visited the United States recently.

"Our workers express their point of view by asking questions," Zhukov said.

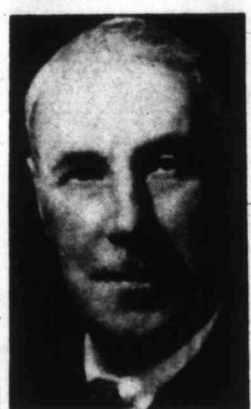

In general, Nixon was received warmly by rank and file workers at Novosibirsk in western Siberia and Sverdlovsk, the "Pittsburgh of the Urals."

The largest and most enthusiastic welcome came from the crowd at industrial Novosibirsk. But at the city's hydroelectric plant and dam, Nixon encountered his first heckling. The foreman, Nikolai Spravsen, told Nixon, "look at the lovely sky, do you see any iron curtain keeping you from getting through?"

Nixon, defining iron curtain, said, "what we mean is a barrier to ideas."

"We can listen to your broadcasts . . . you cannot listen to ours because ours are jammed," Nixon added.

"What you say is correct, but how you say it is a dirty slander," the foreman replied. "Ideas are one thing," the foreman said. "But your broadcasts have proven to be nonsense and dirty slander."

On-Spot Tour

Making an on-the-spot tour of military developments in United Kingdom, Defence Minister George Peckes yesterday inspected Britain's fastest and most revolutionary aircraft, the English Electric Lightning and Fairway Rotodyne. Mr. Peckes returns to Canada Friday.

Barrett Wasn't Surprised

VANCOUVER (CP)—David Barrett, 28, said yesterday he was not "too surprised" when he was fired from his civil service job because he intended to seek nomination as a CCF candidate in the next provincial election.

He said he blamed political discrimination for the loss of his job as personnel officer at the Haney Correctional Institute.

Admiral Says: Missile Subs In 1960

WASHINGTON — The chief of the U.S. Navy's $2,600,000,000 Polaris missile program assured Congress yesterday that the submarine-launched rocket will join the fleet in 1960—three years ahead of the original target date.

Rear Adm. William Raborn told a House space committee hearing that the solid-fuel Polaris has "met or exceeded every objective as scheduled for the development program."

TEST FAILURES The committee held its second day of hearings on a series of test "failures" at Cape Canaveral.

President Eisenhower told his news conference meantime that he does not believe Russia's apparent present superiority in intercontinental ballistic missiles permits it to practise blackmail diplomacy.

LATE START

He said the United States has other means which fully counterbalance Russia's missile strength. Noting Tuesday's successful firing of an Atlas, he noted that Russia has been working on long-range missiles since 1945 and U.S. scientists, who didn't get started until 1954, have done an extraordinary job in keeping even.

Ferry Rescues Four Off Nanaimo Harbor

NANAIMO—A Vancouver school teacher, his wife and two children were rescued here Wednesday after their 36-foot converted lifeboat sprang a leak and sank.

The family was picked up off Entrance Island by the CPR ferry Princess of Nanaimo. Everitt J. Wilks, his wife Rene, their son Leslie, 11, and daughter Leigh, 9, were on a holiday cruise in the former government lifeboat "Tofino Belle" when they noticed water coming up over the floorboards.

When he found he couldn't pump the water out fast enough, Mr. Wilks launched the two daughters he had aboard. Shortly afterwards they flung down the CPR ferry.

Show Restraint

Fewer customers for "Mr. Bonner's stores" was suggested yesterday by Premier Bennett as one way for individuals to achieve a debt-free status such as B.C. boasts. Mr. Bennett was asked how the average citizen could improve his financial position. "Everyone," he said, "should show more restraint in alcohol consumption."

Fliers Found Dead

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bodies of three men and a woman were recovered Wednesday from the wreckage of a light plane on the side of 7,000-foot French Mountain, 200 miles north of here, and flown to Kamloops.

Wreckage of the plane in which the four were flying Monday from here to Quesnel, 300 miles north, was spotted earlier in the day. A three-man para-rescue team was dropped at the scene and the bodies were taken out by helicopter.

On board the plane were Donald Patchett, 44, owner and pilot, Herbert Neville, 29, Donald Currie, 38, and his wife, Gwen, 37, all of Quesnel.

The wreckage was eight miles west of the direct flight path to Quesnel.

Patchett, manager-director of a lumber company, was an experienced pilot who had survived two other crashes. It is believed he crashed when trying to get through rough weather.

Hit Rebels French Drive Ahead

ALGIERS (UPI) — Fresh troops moved yesterday to relieve front-line units of the massive French attack force which has thrust deep into the Algerian rebel heartland of the Kabylia mountains.

Unofficial reports reaching Algiers claimed new and heavy fighting has broken out in the Kabylia region about 60 miles east of here between rebel bands and French combat teams.

The reports gave no casualty figures but described rebel losses as "acute" and said French units had lost few men.

Army headquarters in Algiers refused to confirm or deny the reports. Gen. Maurice Challe, supreme French military chief in Algeria, has ordered a complete blackout on army news which might help the guerrillas escape troops pursuing them.

Challe took personal command of the "operation jumelles (binoculars)" drive into Kabylia when it was launched one week ago.

The object of the "jumelles" drive, one of the biggest ever launched in four and half years of Algerian war, is to pin down and destroy elusive rebel "katibas" (companies).

'Poisoner' Of Babes Unknown

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — The administrator of the county hospital gave up hope last night of ever finding out who dispensed a virulent poison in place of vitamin C for six babies in the hospital's nursery.

The babies turned blue as the poison, sodium nitrite, spread through their bodies. Two died. A nurse's aide called a doctor in time to save the other four, including twins, by pumping out their stomachs.

William Forster, administrator of the hospital, said he had talked to the nine persons who work in the pharmacy and all denied dispensing the poison to a practical nurse who put it into the babies' formulas.

Sturdy Loses Nomination

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawyer David Sturdy, who wanted to run against Attorney-General Bonner in Vancouver Point-Grey riding, failed last night to win the Progressive Conservative nomination. Tories chose Dr. Desmond Kidd, candidate for the party leadership last year, Vancouver Alderman Reg Atherton, and housewife Mrs. Peter Poopa.

Doukhobors Give In on School Issue

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia's troublesome Sons of Freedom Doukhobors are at last attempting to achieve by peaceful co-operation something that four years of demands, threats and violence have failed to accomplish. In a small, quiet courtroom in this Kootenay Valley centre, 34 Freedomite parents are taking the step they hope will lead to the closing of the "prison" which has held some of their children since the fall of 1954—the provincial government dormitory school at nearby New Denver. A dozen or more parents have already sworn an oath on bread, salt and water—that they will send their children to public school this fall if the court grants their release from the New Denver institution. The others have indicated they are prepared to take a similar oath this week. Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans, a former grocer who has patiently heard scores of Freedomite complaints and tried to solve some of their problems in his 10 years on the bench, will decide Friday whether 75 children should be released. The New Denver dormitory was established in 1954 after B.C.'s Social Credit government ordered a "get tough" policy on mass truancy by Freedomite children, whose parents refused to send them to "militaristic" Canadian public schools. RCMP swooped down on the major Doukhobor settlements along the Slokan River, rounded up about 100 truant children, and carried them off to New Denver.irate parents protested to the provincial government, which said that the children would be released as soon as the Freedomites undertook to send them to school.

The Freedomites replied with nude demonstrations, the bombing of railways, power poles and government buildings, and threats to kill any policeman who tried to take away any more of their children. A young Freedomite woman tried to persuade the parents that the best way was to promise to send the children to school. Her house was burned down. Last year, the firm stand of the government began to have a softening effect. Seventeen children were ordered released by Magistrate Evans after their parents undertook to send them to school. Sixteen of them were sent to school as promised.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

ABOARD SHIP IN THE ATLANTIC—This crossing to Britain isn't as happy an adventure as our journey in 1951 aboard the Ascania.

The quarters in this ship, the Italia, are more comfortable. The service is better. There is more and livelier entertainment. I think the trouble is partly me. I'm older.

On the last trip we formed a group of cheerful acquaintances the moment we stepped aboard. For most of this voyage we have felt like strangers in a crowd. I could have tried to cultivate people, but I have always regarded this as hard work, and in the lazy atmosphere of an ocean liner, almost any work seems hard.

Our 1951 journey was in winter, and cold weather seems to make better friends, and of the wartime camaraderie remained. All of us were going to Britain.

This ship, on the other hand, is carrying a large number of Americans and a great many continental Europeans, and comparatively few from the British Isles. The ship is bound for Southampton, Le Havre and Cuxhaven.

The passengers, having different national backgrounds, tend to split into cliques and individual splinters. There are Canadian army wives going overseas, many with children, to join their husbands; Germans revisiting their native land and various parties of American tourists.

The most self-sufficient are the parties of American students. They are unfailingly cheerful and polite if they settle in the adjoining deck-chair, or accidentally jostle you in a corridor, but they are little interested in anyone beyond their circle.

To me, there is something alien about these young students who are so healthy, smooth and sure of themselves. I find them frightening.

People of the mating age, the teens and twenties, haven't much time for children or for senile dotards in their thirties, anyway. I have noticed several passionate affairs sprout and blossom in this hot-house of the emotions.

Girls outnumber men about two to one. Cruises like this are a happy hunting-ground for single men. Even married men are allowed to admire the female scenery—in a detached sort of way, like old milk-fed cats gazing mildly through the glass of an aviary.

We get along well with the other family that shares our small round table in the dining room. Ron was an English aero engine technician who had enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in Britain, under a special recruiting arrangement.

He got a discharge in Canada after having served the required four years. His plan was to settle in Canada. But after the Arrow project had been abandoned, there was a great surplus of aircraft technicians. He couldn't land a steady job as an automotive mechanic either, although he had the highest qualifications from Britain.

It seemed to him that British tradesmen just were not wanted. I suggested that perhaps there simply were not enough jobs available, regardless of nationality, and he acknowledged that this might be so. In any event, he could soon land a job at good pay in England, and that was where he was going.

My wife had a birthday at sea. According to the custom of the line, the headwaiter brought her a cake at dinner, an accordion came in playing "Happy Birthday" and a photographer took a picture, which was presented to my wife in a folder with a message signed by the captain.

There is plenty to do: Trap-shooting, swimming in a crowded pool below decks, gymnasium, deck games, movies, horse-racing with cardboard horses advanced by dice; and just lounging, reading and staring at the sea.

We passed an iceberg, shaped like a derelict corvette encased in frozen spray; a school of whales, and a distant ship on a parallel course, looking small against the expanse of ocean. The sun began to shine warmly, and men lolled about the decks without shirts.

Early one morning I saw the Scilly Isles. This voyage is nine days from Montreal to Southampton. We'll soon be there.

MAMIE EISENHOWER ... not talking

Indians Better Off Without Government

LONG LAC, Ont.—Indian Senator James Gladstone says the government should leave Indians alone and the Indians will better themselves.

He agreed with commercial fishermen who said that if it were not for the government and Indian agents, the Indians would be better off.

The senator said education of children is the most important thing.

"The reserves are overpopulated and many of the Indians can no longer make a living on them," he said. "We have been cheated by selling our reserves in the past and we will not be cheated again."

"With this in mind we must educate our children so that they may take their place among the white men."

"We are a proud race and have suffered in silence the many injustices, but now we have a chance to gain back what we lost and still retain our pride."

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower confessed that he has some travel plans in mind when he leaves the White House in 1961, but he left to Mamie the question of where "home base" would be. Mrs. Eisenhower wasn't talking.

BEVERLY HILLS—A bench warrant was issued for English actor Anthony Steel when the former husband of Anita Ekberg failed to appear on a drunk driving charge. Steel apparently left for Europe 10 days ago.

BAGHDAD—Premier Gen. Karim Kassam blamed anarchists for violence at Kirkuk and accused them of plotting similar attacks throughout Iraq.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld.—Tory Leader Malcolm Macdonald says he will oppose Premier Joey Smallwood for the St. John's West legislative seat in the Aug. 20 election.

LONDON—Rise Stevens, on her way to sing in Moscow's Red Square, said she broke her contract with the San Francisco Opera Company "on a matter of principle"—a suspicion that one of the European singers was to receive more money.

NEW YORK—Opera and TV star Patrice Munsel gave birth to a premature baby but the mother and girl are doing fine.

TOKYO—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has accepted an invitation from Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi to visit Japan.

LOS ANGELES—The estate of the late Tyrone Power may be insolvent after all his debts are paid, Superior Judge Burdette J. Daniels said in reducing the amounts of living allowances awarded Power's wife and child and two daughters by his second wife.

LOS ANGELES—Former New York bookmaking king Gross was arraigned on a murder complaint charging him with killing his wife's 81-year-old grandfather, who died Tuesday of injuries received June 27.

PARIS—French Armed Forces Minister Pierre Guillaumat ruled that one child in

You Look Like My Brother —And You Look Like Mine

CORBIERE, Channel Islands (Reuters) — A hotel barman here told vacationing Ernest Brown he looked a lot like his brother who had been killed in the Second World War.

Ernest told the barman he looked a lot like his brother who had also been killed in the war.

They were both partly right. Ernest, 48, and the barman, James Brown, 55, are brothers. They lost track of each other in the war and each presumed the other had been killed. It was a handy place for a reunion.

Names In the News

SEN. GLADSTONE ... leave them alone

ST. LOUIS—Adolf Burger, car dealer under a four-year prison sentence for income tax evasion, asked federal court to reduce or suspend his sentence because—among other things—he suffers from claustrophobia.

DUBLIN—Playwright Brendan Behan, in hospital since a monumental binge in London two weeks ago, walked out "because they tried to shut me off from the world."

"I'm much better now—I shan't repeat that London episode," he said.

NEW YORK—Actress Rita Hayworth and her former husband, Prince Aly Khan, have settled all differences involving their daughter, nine-year-old Princess Yasmin. Prince Aly plans to take Princess Yasmin to Europe in about two weeks.

LOS ANGELES—The estate of the late Tyrone Power may be insolvent after all his debts are paid, Superior Judge Burdette J. Daniels said in reducing the amounts of living allowances awarded Power's wife and child and two daughters by his second wife.

Bennett Announces

No Tolls on Bondfire Day

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett announced yesterday no tolls will be charged on British Columbia bridges, tunnels and ferries under control of the highways department on Saturday, the day the government declares itself free of direct debt.

The free passage will be effective from 6 a.m. to midnight.

"Keep us in office long enough and we'll remove all the tolls every day," the premier said.

The Social Credit government will stage a day-long celebration culminating in a "bondfire" at Kelowna Saturday to mark the end of B.C.'s direct debt.

Opposition critics have claimed that the debt has not been paid off but transferred to indirect debt.

The premier said he anticipates "no net loss" from lifting the tolls.

Toll structures affected by the premier's announcement include the Lions Gate and Oak Street bridges in Vancouver, the Deas Island tunnel, and the Rosedale-Agassiz, Nelson and Okanagan Lake bridges.

The premier would not say whether he plans to make an important announcement Saturday about expenditure of the $25,000,000 a year he says the government will have to spare as a result of paying off the debt.

"I said that, people would just say the premier was enticing them to the celebration."

Faces Up to Problem

Purist Calls Halt To Surplus Words

LONDON (Reuters) — A purist has taken issue with British use of "meaningless prepositions, in the American manner."

F. E. Bailey, in a letter to The Daily Telegraph, complained about a story headed "facing up to the heat."

He declared that since the war British newspapers have been spattered with such phrases and the result "is murder for an English child learning its own language."

Declared purist Bailey: "One does not meet up with one's girl friend, one meets her."

DURANTE'S FRENZY

A violent thrashing of a baby's arms, legs, head, feet, rib cage and buttocks, punctuated by shrieks from the baby and profane mutterings from attendant parents seeking to control the thrashing. Caused by bell-f among babies that the human nose is a fit repository for anything but nose drops.

The average 18-month-old will, without a qualm, introduce into his nostrils peas, marbles, collar buttons, cigarette butts and carpet tacks, but when asked to submit the same organ to four drops of nasal balm, immediately fears for his life, evidently confusing the nosedropper with a suction device for removing the brains.

Administering the nose drops against the child's wishes is the equivalent of force-feeding a python and, unless the mother outweighs the child by 150 pounds or has recourse to a vise, strait jacket and leg irons, the assistance of the father will be required. The father should first gird himself with earmuffs, raincoat and ratchet's mask, because in the ensuing struggle there is always considerable doubt as to who will wind up with the drops and where.

Sikh's Turban Costs Job On Bus Line

MANCHESTER, England (UPI)—Gyani Sundar Singh Sagar, a bearded Sikh, has been refused a job as a bus conductor because he insists on wearing his turban instead of the regulation cap. Sundar, 42, said his religion forbids cutting his hair or appearing without his turban. He offered to wear a navy blue turban to match the uniforms and to pin the company badge on it but the city rejected this, too. "I should not be victimized because I want to uphold my religious beliefs," Sundar said.

Oxonian's Prescription

Put Delinquents in Army

VANCOUVER (CP) — Michael Argyle, a social psychology lecturer at Oxford University, has a prescription for the cure of most juvenile delinquents—put them in the army.

In a lecture at UBC, he outlined four types of delinquents and gave the cures he will attempt when he returns to England. They were:

Those who are hostile to adult authority with a tendency to admire others. Cure: the army or similar organizations where they can find non-delinquents to admire.

Those who lack conscience because parents withdraw their love as a disciplinary measure. Cure: help by counselors who will allow the delinquent to play the role of counselor and develop his own conscience.

Those who are weak-willed, unable to give up any immediate satisfaction for greater pleasure at some later time. Cure: therapy in small groups where they can work off their aggressions.

Those who fail to conform to moral standards. Cure: pleasant association in a group and training in understanding the feelings of others.

Conciliation and Settlement

AMENDMENTS to British Columbia's labor law at the last session appear to have run into precisely the difficulty that had been foreseen: no steps were taken to improve the existing means of conciliation, arbitration and final settlement of conflicting labor and management differences. It is not a mere question of whether the minister of labor is right or wrong in his public utterances on the present round of strikes within the province, but of curing defects inherent in the existing method of industrial negotiations. The Colonist pointed out at the time that Bill 43—aimed at securing civil responsibility on both sides—did nothing to cure the ineffectual means of negotiating an enduring settlement.

As everybody has seen, the existing conciliation and voluntary arbitration procedure leads to nothing but a perpetual recurrence of stalemates. The conciliation panels usually make a finding in the middle, which satisfies neither contending side of a dispute. Arbitration is provided for, but there is nothing to make its result binding. So labor-employer differences go through negotiation, conciliation and sometimes voluntary arbitration without arriving anywhere. The Colonist has said all this before, but the events of the last two months have reinforced this obvious omission in the present set-up.

It is not likely that the government can do much about it between sessions, because only the legislature can make law. At the same time it would be considerably more to the point if Mr. Wicks would give his earnest attention now to sharpening the existing means of negotiation under provincial supervision. It is not probable that anything can be done about the province's labor laws as they stand, but there should be nothing to prevent the government from recognizing the omission and preparing for its correction at the next opportunity. Meanwhile the labor department could help a lot by understanding that the ineffectuality of the amended code has been too widely demonstrated to defend as "the last word."

British Columbians of all shades of political and economic views have shown that they like the "responsibility" sections of the new code. No one can be above or beyond the law, and Bill 43 cures at least that omission of the past. But disputes do not settle themselves, and provincial negotiation machinery which runs merely in circles, like a dog chasing its own tail, is not and cannot ever be the final answer. We will say, too, that both management and labor, rightly considered, have the first and leading interest in helping British Columbia to find a code that will work. Industrial strife can be outgrown, and it should be.

Television in Canada

UNDER regulations proposed by the new board of broadcast governors, to go into effect next year, all television stations will have to carry programs containing a weekly minimum of 55 per cent Canadian content. This is the first major announcement of the new board since it was constituted to rule and regulate radio and TV broadcasting in Canada.

There should be no objection to this decision. There would be small purpose in Canadian TV if it were not to reflect the Canadian mode and character and serve the nation by providing opportunities for Canadian people and things. This the CBC does, and it is the chief reason for its existence. Private television stations will also have to adhere to the pattern, and doubtless not to their dissatisfaction. These serve a fine local need and their employment of local talent is a stimulus to their activities. There would be little credit in being in effect simply an outlet for American programs.

It is the influence of our good neighbor to the south that is cause for these self-protecting regulations. Just as U.S. agencies develop and sustain the American way of life so it is necessary that in Canada stress should be placed on the Canadian way of life. Television has become a potent weapon of persuasion and to validate its licence it should in this country primarily serve national needs.

There may in fact be surprise that the minimum percentage should not have been set higher. Commonwealth programs will be counted as 50 per cent Canadian, which means that the actual native content may overall be in the minority. This scarcely provides sufficient opportunities for Canadian artists and contributors to this medium of entertainment and information. Canadian TV should be predominantly Canadian in personnel throughout if it is to be truly Canadian.

The proposed regulation governing program hours seems strange, but may become clearer as reasons are made known. Why no TV broadcasting should be permitted before noon except for certain selected events seems puzzling; if a station wishes to operate all day it should be free to do so. In general however the new board has started well, nor should listeners have any complaints. Most Canadian sets bring in U.S. programs direct and thus TV watchers are not deprived of personal choice in the matter of programs.

Short Term Financing

WHETHER it is done in the name of the Province which guarantees such debt, or the several provincial crown agencies concerned, the carrying of $32,900,000 in short term loans without funding may be an expensive operation. The federal government has found it so, and the resources and credit of the Dominion are wider than those of any province.

The current operation under the direction of the provincial treasury is no doubt necessary. Maturing loans have to be met whether they are funded or, as appears to be the case in this instance, carried on the credit of the Province. The order in council sets out a higher schedule of interest rates on the new loans, as was to be anticipated.

In the end, of course, financing on the overdraft principle will have to give way to direct funding. If B.C. crown agencies are approximately $33,000,000 behind in their capital financing program eventually steps will have to be taken to put that debt in its regular carrying form, debentures with or without a direct guarantee by the Province.

Meanwhile recurrent refinancing by short term loans can only add to the cost of such "contingent" debt.

Interpreting the News

Summit Aim Persists

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHEN it comes to a mud-slinging, no-holds-barred kind of fight, Vice-President Richard Nixon may be no match for the shrewd and wily Premier Khrushchev.

But in the end, in keeping a cool head amid the Khrushchev storm, Nixon may contribute in his own way to a reduction in East-West tension. And he may even bring a summit conference closer.

Nixon must have known that when he went to Moscow he couldn't be sure of the kind of reception he'd get. But he may not have been prepared for the display of rudeness by the Soviet leader who chose the arrival day to deliver a blast against the United States.

Khrushchev followed this up the next day by delivering a verbal blockbuster before television cameras in the American exhibition at Moscow where he demanded the U.S. quit its foreign bases that ring the Soviet orbit.

Perhaps not sure how a guest should answer his host, Nixon appeared at first a bit unsure of himself, though when he did get in a word edgewise, his voice was calm and firm and his words to the point. But there was no doubt Khrushchev was ahead in wit, gestures, thrust and threats.

There are many sides to Khrushchev's personality. After routing his guest, he did an unprecedented thing by inviting him for an overnight stay at his country home, where he was the beaming host again.

In his mind may have been sown the seed that if he could vanquish Nixon in the propaganda battle, he assuredly would have little trouble taking on President Eisenhower at a summit conference. It is possible that in his vanity, he may give a little at the Big Four Geneva foreign ministers conference to get the summit stage set.

Meantime the Nixon-Khrushchev encounter has emphasized a puzzling part of American diplomacy: the timing—or lack of it—in decisions and announcements.

A week before Nixon was to land in Moscow, Eisenhower—at the request of Congress—proclaimed a week of prayer for captive Soviet satellites, a move that made Khrushchev boil.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

WHAT is sauce for the goose isn't always a like dose for the gander, as the Toronto Star points out in harking back to Miss Joyce Davidson.

As it happens this young lady's opinion was put entirely at naught during the royal tour now at about an end. Even a profound cynic would be hard put to find the "indifference" she claimed to be prevalent in Canada. Whether from love, affection, loyalty or mere curiosity Canadians flocked everywhere to see the Queen.

That is now beyond dispute and her cross-country journey must go into the records as a triumphal one. It could scarcely have been more successful from a personal standpoint.

Miss Davidson was rebuked for taking it upon herself to speak for others when she said that "like most Canadians" she was uninterested in the royal tour. No one person can speak for all Canada on any subject; not even a prime minister—as the opposition benches would soon remind him—who would have more licence than most of us.

For this writer the young lady's chief offence was that she voiced her opinion on the network of another country. No one seemed to think this strange, but he is old-fashioned enough to believe that when you leave your own land on a visit you should leave your criticism of it there too. He thinks it's letting your country down to belittle it or its institutions to a foreign audience, no matter what you feel about things when at home.

The Star draws attention however to Dr. Wilder Penfield, a distinguished Canadian surgeon, who was at fault as much as Miss Davidson. His opinion of royalty was the opposite to hers but he presumed to take in even more human territory than did the TV lady. He told a conference of Canadian and British medical men in Edinburgh that "I speak for Canada and Canadians."

He didn't, of course, even if most of them would agree with his sentiments.

The point is that he, claiming such omniscience, assured his listeners that "we prize the long and arduous visit of Her Majesty." As the Star says this is doubtless what a lot of Canadians liked to hear and so there were no repercussions. Unlike Miss Davidson, Dr. Penfield didn't become the recipient of a thousand brickbats.

Yet he spoke out of turn too, if in more pleasing fashion. He didn't condemn his fellow citizens while outside his own country but he affected to speak in their name.

In principle the reaction in these two instances was unequal, even to a miss who went grievously astray. The Toronto paper draws the conclusion that actually she was damned for her views and not for presuming to speak for others; whereas Dr. Penfield was excused because he voiced a popular view.

That is a logical conclusion and it is probably near the truth.

The minority who like Miss Davidson are "indifferent" to royalty—and there will be some of her persuasion—have the same reason for objecting to Dr. Penfield as the majority had for being irked by her.

Fair is fair, and after the Queen's triumphal progress we should be magnanimous enough to admit such.

Reports From Ottawa

THE timetable for production of the Lockheed Starfighter for the RCAF calls for a decision by mid-August on the company which will build the plane.

It has already been announced that Orenda Engines Ltd., a subsidiary of the A. V. Roe Co., will build the J-79 jet engine for the F104G, as the German-Canadian model of the Starfighter is now known. Soon this model will be better known in Canada as the CF-111.

Officials here say that Canadair Ltd. of Montreal is almost certain to get the contract for the 214 airframes, rather than Avro or DeHavilland. This belief is based on Canadair's general competence, and comparison of Canadair's proposals for handling the job with those put forward by Avro and DeHavilland.

The decision, which is scheduled to be approved by Treasury Board, the financial committee of the cabinet, on Aug. 13 and announced on Aug. 14, will not rule out Avro and DeHavilland as sub-contractors. But Canadair will be the prime contractor.

The prospects for the Canadian aircraft industry in the manufacture of Starfighters are growing. To sweeten the deal for the government, Lockheed agreed to the manufacture in Canada of major parts of 67 airframes of the Lockheed order for the West German Air Force.

Since this was announced in parliament three weeks ago, the prospect of an order from Australia has developed. The Australians are reported to be keenly interested in the Starfighter as a replacement for their obsolete F-86 Sabres, and the Canadian government hopes to snatch the Australian business for Canada. Australian needs are estimated at about 100 airplanes.

The Lockheed company is balking at this. Defence production department lawyers who are in Burbank, Calif., negotiating with Lockheed officials are demanding Commonwealth production rights as the price of Canada's business. Lockheed has countered by offering European rights. Our negotiators, being of the opinion that European rights for the Starfighter will be virtually worthless once West Germany's requirements are filled, rejected the counter-proposal.

Canada's hand in this dickering is being strengthened by the willingness of the Grumman Co. to give Canada Commonwealth rights to manufacture the Grumman Super Tiger if the government will adopt the Tiger for the RCAF instead of the Starfighter. The Tiger is believed to have been recommended by Defence Minister Peakes on the advice of the chief of the air staff, Air-Marshal Hugh Campbell, only to be rejected by Prime Minister Diefenbaker on the ground that the Starfighter won't cost as much as the Tiger.

The government is not asking for the exclusive right to manufacture and sell the Starfighter within the Commonwealth. It merely wants the Canadian licence to manufacture Starfighters—for which Lockheed is to get $20,000 per aircraft made in Canada—to be broad enough to permit Canada to sell Starfighters to other Commonwealth countries.

This would put the Canadian industry in direct competition with Lockheed for the Australian business and any other orders originating within the Commonwealth.

The key to any success Canada might have in such competition lies in the relative low per-pound cost of producing airframes in Canada, which is due to such factors as substantially lower labor costs in Canada, and the picky size of the licence fee to be paid to Lockheed in comparison with the costs of developing this airplane.

The Packback

In Canada As In Rome

By GREGORY CLARK

ON the Rome Express which runs between Paris and Rome, I was very impressed with the way the passengers swarmed aboard the coaches grabbing furiously for window seats. And then travelled the whole way without looking out the windows at all.

This gave me a deep-seated antipathy to Europeans which I nursed for several weeks until I encountered an old friend in Rome to whom I reported my observations.

"But, my dear man," he protested, "they do that in Canada. They do it everywhere. You just happened to notice it on the Rome Express."

So sure enough when I got home, the first thing I observed was that in buses and trains, everybody rushes to grab window seats and then turn their backs on the view. This assuaged my feelings with regard to Europeans. It appears that when you are in a foreign land your faculties of observation are more acute than when at home.

I doubt if anywhere in Europe could be observed anything more absurd than the spectacle of an elderly father and mother and two middle-aged daughters, presumably unmarried, who with practised skill wangled their way to the head of the boarding line for a plane I was taking recently, hustled aboard, all got window seats, one ahead of the other.

And five minutes after the plane took off, all were sound asleep. By their luggage, I could see they were experienced travellers.

There must be some advantage to window seats that does not meet the eye.

Let us use time whilst we may:

Scratch those joys that haste away:

Earth her winter coat may cast,

And renew her beauties past;

But, our winter come in vain,

We solicit spring again:

And when our furrows snow shall cover

Love may return, but never lover.

Are Crux Of Criticism

By PETER DEMPSON, from Ottawa

WHERE does the CBC stand as a result of the House of Commons broadcasting committee probe of CBC operations?

On fairly solid ground with the Diefenbaker government. But on a shaky structure financially.

The advantage of the one, however, can easily offset the handicap of the other. After all it is the government, with the approval of Parliament, that is responsible for allocating the public funds the CBC requires.

From the evidence given the committee during its 31 sittings, it is apparent the government fully believes there's a place for CBC in the Canadian way of life. What's more, the Conservatives appear to be opposed to any major policy changes.

Revenue Minister George Nowlan, through whom the CBC reports to Parliament, made it plain the Diefenbaker administration won't tolerate any interference with CBC policies. But he was critical of the corporation for some of its slipshod methods, and inferred it was time the CBC reverted to its original principles.

The prime minister himself has helped to clear the air regarding the CBC.

What the government has actually done is strengthen the corporation. Control of the CBC was placed under a separate management. And duties relating to the approval of applications for new stations, and the preparation of regulations governing broadcasting, were assigned to the newly-formed Board of Broadcast Governors.

As recently as a few weeks ago, when the CBC found itself in one jacket after another, reports were again prevalent that the CBC was going to receive a sharp setback from the government. Politicians became concerned.

In his reply, the prime minister set the minds of many MPs at ease. For, while many have little use for the CBC, they believe there is a place for it. He reiterated what the Conservative policy always has been regarding the corporation.

"... Representatives of the Liberal party have taken a strong stand, as have the members of the Conservative party, against any government interference with the CBC."

While the public wants the CBC, it's becoming increasingly apparent that something has to be done regarding the CBC's financial position. Canadian taxpayers are quite emphatic that they have no intention of tolerating huge CBC deficits forever.

CBC operations in 1959-60 likely will cost more than $90,000,000, of which less than $35,000,000 will come from commercial revenues. This means the public purse will have to provide around $55,000,000 through parliamentary grants, if not more.

The Fowler Royal Commission warned that the CBC's net operating losses, after deducting income from commercial sources, may climb to $74,000,000 in 1962-63. Over a six-year period Canadian taxpayers may be called upon to kick in close to $500,000,000 to finance CBC expansion and operating losses.

Such a situation can't go on indefinitely. And parliamentary grants aren't the answer.

The government tried licensing receiving sets (radios) to raise revenue, but this didn't prove satisfactory. It also turned over to the CBC for a time the 15 per cent excise tax on new television and radio sets.

Now the only revenue the CBC can count on is that obtained from commercial sources, and whatever parliament may decide to provide. It's not a healthy situation.

But the CBC hasn't helped its own cause by its free-spending policies. The costs of CBC programs recently given to the broadcasting committee showed that only 17 out of 40 sponsored shows paid their way. The taxpayers were even called upon to subsidize liquor and tobacco-sponsored programs.

A little more salesmanship on the part of the CBC might help to repair its shaky financial undercarriage. Reducing its huge overhead also would be a smart move.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

An elderly lady, after long trips through impressive hallways and an hour of waiting, was permitted to see a high-up assistant in the Agriculture Department.

"But I want to see the Minister of Agriculture himself," she protested.

"He's not in just now, madam," said the official. "Can't you tell me what it is you want to see him about?"

"Well, I have a geranium that isn't doing so well."

Paris has just had a Silence Week, which seems a splendid idea except that it must have been rough on tourists, who generally feel that speaking very very loudly makes English understandable to the French.

Letters to the Editor

Birth Handicap

Today, the very source of city health is being threatened by the city council's vote to demolish the public market—the natural outlet to the best food produced on the Island.

The small farmer brings in from his farm and the fisherman brings from his nets, the freshest and most natural food in the city. For the last 45 years the public market has supplied the city's most distinguished tables. Many people do not know that fresh, naturally grown food contains minerals and vitamins that cannot be reproduced in artificially grown foodstuffs.

It is now scientifically proved that children born of mothers, who, during pregnancy, live upon chemically fertilized, chemically preserved foods or stale viscated foods including chemically produced vitamin pills, are born physiologically inferior to children born of mothers who live upon fresh, naturally grown fruits, vegetables, cheeses, fresh meats or home-cured smoked meats and fish and home-made (with demerara sugar) preserves.

Today 70 per cent of the food serving the city is imported food. Most of this food is chemically fertilized, chemically preserved foods or viscated foods.

Unless the city administration wants the next generation to be born with a permanent physiological handicap, they should reverse their vote to demolish the public market by a vote to revive it.

MARGARET PETERSON.

Born of Arrogance

I think nothing exemplifies the ignorance born of arrogance of the labor unions better than their recent action in demanding that Mr. Justice Manson be removed from the bench. It is possible through association with their American labor bosses they have gained the impression that our appointed Canadian judges may be dictated to or removed. That cannot happen in Canada. We will not tolerate Hoffas in Canada, although he may soon be in absentia control of our new St. Lawrence Seaway. Also their statement re a "trash of injunctions." Judgments are perfectly legal instruments (which may be an objectionable feature) and have been used long before Bill 43 was passed. And why should not a union like any other responsible entity in Canada not be sued for damages if it appears that damage has been inflicted upon someone. Never have so few been so foolish.

Wheat, Not Trout

On reading the article in your paper re B.C. giving a gift of Kamloops trout eggs to Greece: We in Canada have much that we can give away—wheat, butter and money, but not trout eggs.

When our game department cannot, or will not, try to keep our Vancouver Island sea-run cutthroat trout from complete depletion, would it not be better to emulate New Zealand where they have conservation, a close season for spawning and strict fishing laws which are enforced? Then have our paid fish and game wardens concentrate on improving home fishing which is what we employ them for.

In Old Victoria

Just a note re James K. Nesbitt's stories of old Victoria in "The Islander." I enjoy them very much but I would like to point out a slip in the one of last Sunday's issue. Under the picture it says: "shows the Victoria Theatre and the old and new Driford Hotels." What the picture shows is the former theatre, southwest corner of Douglas and View, and part of the old Driford on View. The new Driford was on southeast corner View and Broad, and does not show in the picture.

When I came to Victoria in 1902, the theatre entrance was on View, as shown, but later was changed to Douglas street, right where the entrance to Eaton's is today. Spencer's altered the building some and Eaton's some more, but outlines are still easily discernible. Did you ever hear of the time the fire engine was driven through the window of the Driford?

Scanning Stars a Feature Of City Astronomy Course

A $1, five-week course in astronomy is being offered next month by the Victoria section of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

Professional astronomers will give lectures every Monday at 8:30 p.m. at Victoria College for four weeks starting Aug. 3. The final night will be taken up with a trip to the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich.

After the lectures, the star students will congregate on the college lawns to view the sky through telescopes set up by society members.

Registration will precede the first meeting. The $1 fee covers the five-week course and provides for star-maps and general information pamphlets.

Schedule is "Some Highlights of Astronomy," Dr. E. G. Ebbighausen, University of Oregon, Aug. 3; "The Solar System," Dr. W. H. Wehlauf, University of Western Ontario, Aug. 10; "Galactic Structure," Dr. Beverly Lynds, Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Aug. 17; "Solar-Terrestrial Relationships," H. J. Duffus, Pacific Naval Laboratory, Aug. 24, and visit to the observatory, Aug. 31.

C.A.R.S. Asks Hobbyists To Help Out

Victoria home-workshop fans anxious to get in some practice before tackling winter projects can accomplish this and simultaneously do a good turn for arthritis and rheumatism patients, a Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society official said yesterday.

Women's Auxiliary to C.A.R.S. will pay for the material and supply drawings to amateur woodworkers willing to turn out special training aids and self-help devices. Mrs. Jessie O. Jones, president, said yesterday.

Most of the articles needed can be made with the simple hand tools, Mrs. Jones said.

Four or five volunteers are needed for the project and can keep the C.A.R.S. clinic at St. Joseph's Hospital amply stocked with the special aids in a few hours spare time.

Drawings of the articles may be seen on request and volunteers should call EV 2-3622 for further details, or write to the physiotherapist, c/o C.A.R.S., St. Joseph's Hospital.

Offer to IWA 'Not Enough'

Premier's Stand 'Not Considered?'

Premier Bennett's belief that the B.C. coast forest industry can afford a large increase for its striking woodworkers than it is offering "is in striking contrast" to the report of a provincial conciliation board, the companies said last night.

John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, which handles negotiations for most forest companies, said the conciliation board spent 10 days of study before issuing a recommendation for a 12-cent hourly wage increase over two years. The companies accepted the report.

ONE-YEAR 'FAIR'

Premier Bennett told a press conference in Vancouver that an increase of between 10 and 12 cents in a one-year contract "would be fair."

"The management's offer is not enough and the union's demands are unrealistic," the premier said.

Retorted Mr. Billings: "We are hesitant to accept replies made under pressure of newspaper interviews as being the considered policy of the government."

'LITTLE POINT'

An IWA demand for 20 per cent increase across the board, Mr. Billings said, "is as far beyond the amount the premier speaks of that there appears to be little point for anyone other than the IWA to comment on the proposal."

The IWA district secretary, George Mitchell, said: "We think the companies can afford to pay a lot more. In fact, we know it."

The union's original demand for a 20 per cent increase amounting to 34 cents an hour has been dropped to 12 per cent, which is about 21 cents an hour.

NEW ERA

Mr. Billings said that "if labor and others were to force the premier of British Columbia into the position of disregarding conciliation board reports as meaningless and putting pressure on companies to take a certain course of action, without any financial

Festival Fights Wildest to Date

VIENNA (AP) — Scores of Communist youth clashed with Austrian plainclothes police Wednesday night in the wildest street fighting thus far in the Communist-sponsored seventh World Youth Festival.

The festival, now in its fourth day, has been marked from the start by fist and verbal battles between Communist and anti-Communist delegates.

The latest clash was set off when Communists attacked a loudspeaker truck driven by anti-Communist youths to a meeting of several hundred festival participants in an industrial district.

The anti-Communists tried to distribute their leaflets to the festival audience. Then the Communists attacked with fists. Police first tried to protect the loudspeaker with the anti-Communists inside it.

Then the Communists charged the police. The loudspeaker car made a getaway and the police defended themselves.

Goats were domesticated even before cows, probably before 3000 BC in parts of Asia.

Killers in the Nose

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Scientific explorations inside noses have showed up the extent to which enemies of people lie quietly in their cavernous protruberances, poised to pounce on their hosts when the time seems ripe.

These enemies are the bacteria staphylococcus aureus, the most troublesome of all bacteria because so many of them have learned to live with most of the antibiotic bacteria killers.

Staph Infection Spreads Even During Surgery

patients who are thus made "carriers."

The new investigations concerned patients who carried their own staph germs in their noses, apparently doing no harm. Dr. Haskell Weinstein had the noses of 125 patients explored with swabs and found that 34 per cent of the 125 had staphylococcus aureus residing in their noses.

They make up reservoirs of possible infections inside hospitals, inhabiting noses and throats of nurses, doctors and chest; of the staph-free, the infection rate was 40 per cent.

Moreover, the rate for surgical failure was 23.3 per cent in the patients who had germs in their noses and 7.3 per cent for those with no germs.

The surgery was all "elective"; that is, it could have been done at any time and the lives of the patients didn't depend on the outcome.

Dr. Weinstein said surgeons are loath to touch an "elective" patient while there is any infection in his body. He suggested this no-touch rule could be applied to all patients harboring staph germs in their noses.

China Will Trade 'Only for Politics'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Toronto member of parliament said Wednesday on his return from a two-week visit to Communist China that prospects for Canadian trade there have been "greatly exaggerated."

Fred Stinson, a Progressive Conservative member, said he found no evidence to support optimistic views on Canadian-Chinese trade expressed last year by James Muir, president of the Royal Bank of Canada.

There were signs of an economic upsurge, especially in educational and industrial construction, he said. But the country still had "a long way to go."

"The country is part of the integrated Communist economic bloc and its trade is naturally with other communist countries," he said. "Many of the products offered by Canada are available to China at lower prices from the satellite countries."

Car Hits Pole Youth Killed

LANGLEY (CP)—A youth returning from a swimming party at Mission early Wednesday was killed and three other persons injured when their car rammed into a pole on the outskirts of Langley.

Dead is Clifford Empe, 22, of New Westminster. His wife Lorraine, married only a month ago, was in fair condition in hospital with head injuries.

Lords Support Action in Africa

LONDON (Reuters)—The government won a vote of confidence in the House of Lords Wednesday night—as it did in the House of Commons Tuesday night—for its emergency handling of the situation in the Central African protectorate of Nyasaland after riots in which 51 African natives were killed.

The voting was 80 to 34 on a Labor motion that the whole report of a commission headed by Justice Patrick Devlin, which investigated the troubles which led to the emergency on March 3, should be accepted.

The Lords also approved without a further vote a government motion which accepted parts of the commission's findings.

A Conservative peer, Lord Jemmingford, said he thought it would be better if Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd had resigned.

The commission decided that the Nyasaland government's resort to emergency powers was justified, but that there was no "murder plot" to assassinate Europeans as alleged by the colonial secretary.

"I am speaking in order that Africans and others may know there is one Conservative in Parliament who accepts this report in full," Lord Jemmingford said.

Island May Become Short-Cut to Alaska

VANCOUVER (CP)—T. L. Sturges, British Columbia deputy minister of trade and commerce, said Wednesday an extension of the Vancouver Island Highway and a car ferry to Kitimat to provide a shorter route to Alaska is being studied.

FERRY NEEDED

He said extension of the highway to the northern tip of the island and a car ferry would provide a short 2,100-mile inland route to Alaska.

Such a link between Alaska and the rest of America was vital, he told a seminar on Canadian-United States relations at the University of British Columbia.

ANOTHER LINK

He said a connection could be made from Kitimat to the Stewart-Carrier Road which now connected with the Alaska Highway at Watson Lake, 600 miles north of Prince Rupert. Stewart is 135 miles north of Prince Rupert.

He said the Cassiar Road could also be linked with the Atlin Road at Whitehorse, Y.T.

SPUR ROADS

"This is a shorter route and one which will link the Alaska Panhandle communities they have the initiative to build spur roads through the Coast Range."

Mr. Sturges said providing an inland link between Alaska and the rest of the United States would be a "mutual advantage to all concerned."

CO-OPERATE, TOO

"Because of similar resources, B.C. must not only compete but also co-operate with Alaska."

The future holds good prospects for further rail extensions northward, he said.

"Considerably shorter routes can be and must be developed if Alaska's great variety of resources are to be developed. We in B.C. have done a great deal along these lines, but still have a great deal more to do."

To Bomb Fires

Aerial Tank Trucks

Four Martin Mars flying boats are scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Airport next week for refitting into giant "aerial tank trucks" to water-bomb forest fires.

MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. yesterday sent its 100-gallon capacity Grumman Goose water-bombing aircraft to fight fires near Sproat and Jervis Inlet.

Forest service officials yesterday reported six new fires in the Vancouver forest district, all started by lightning. There are now 21 fires burning in the district.

The job, unofficially estimated to cost nearly $1,000,000, will be done by Fairley Aviation Company of Canada Ltd. for a new company to be formed by six leading firms in the B.C. forest industry to fight fires on their property.

The new company will be known as Forest Industries Flying Tankers Ltd. Purchase of the aircraft from the U.S. Navy in San Francisco was confirmed last night.

7,000 GALLONS

The plan calls for the four-engine Mars — each with a span of 200 feet and an overall length of 120 feet — to be fully equipped with water tanks to carry 7,000 gallons. Intake systems and dropping equipment to bomb fires.

A spokesman for the company said a plane the size of the Mars is critically needed in B.C.

HEAVY RAIN

The Mars will be capable of dumping one-third of an inch of water on an acre in 15 minutes — the equivalent of a very heavy rainfall.

Scops will fill tanks inside the planes with water as they taxi on lake or sea.

Sponsoring companies are B.C. Forest Products Ltd., Canadian Forest Products Ltd., MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., Powell River Co. Ltd., Tahsis Company Ltd. and Western Forest Industries Ltd.

Air Vice-Marshal Leigh F. Stevenson, board chairman of Okanagan Helicopters, has made a study of the flying boats for the companies.

"They are capable of carrying a tremendous volume of water. They are manoeuvrable in B.C. conditions and they are highly efficient for this kind of work," he said.

IWA Strike Vote Cost $13,500

The strike vote among IWA workers in June cost taxpayers $13,500, it was learned yesterday. The provincial cabinet passed an order-in-council authorizing a special warrant to pay for the expenditures.

The vote resulted in a crippling strike which has seen 27,000 lumber workers on strike since July 6.

'Nincompoop' Private View

DUNCAN—The Chamber of Commerce here has "disassociated" itself from the views of a member who called Labor Minister Lyle Wicks a "nincompoop" at a recent meeting.

Will Dobson, a weekly editor and past president of the chamber, had said Mr. Wicks was a "third-rater" and "rotten" labor minister at a meeting Monday.

"They are his own private views," said Bert Evans, president of the chamber, after a special meeting yesterday of the executive, at which Mr. Dobson was present.

"A letter is being drafted to go to the minister to explain more fully our views on the need of a mediation board, and stating that Mr. Dobson's remarks were not endorsed by the chamber," he said.

EDMONTON—A young soldier was drowned when he drifted into a lake during a parachute jump.

HONOLULU—Republicans scored an upset victory in Hawaii's first election as the 50th state. William Quinn, Republican-appointed territorial governor, was returned to office.

MONTREAL—Police said three youths and a girl arrested Tuesday are connected with a juvenile car-theft ring uncovered two days ago.

VANCOUVER—A west-bound CNE Super-Continental was derailed early Wednesday by a rock and mud slide in the Fraser Canyon near Spence's Bridge. None of the 182 passengers or crews was reported injured.

ST. BERNARD DES LACS, Que.—Firefighters held their ground Wednesday in a battle against a mammoth forest blaze that has scorched a 300-square-mile swath through the Gaspé Peninsula.

City Dancers Outstep Scots

Shipping coals to Newcastle is not always the foolish move which legend has it to be, as these two Victoria girls, both Highland dancers, proved in Edinburgh recently. Heather Duncan, 18, right, won two second places and three honor certificates at the International Festival of Dancing and Arlene Atkinson won two third places, one honor and one merit certificate.

Dog Saves Kittens

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Whoever tried to drown three little kittens in the Arno River here hadn't counted on Susana, the cat's best friend.

Susana, a German shepherd dog, heard the kittens meowing desperately as the current carried them downstream.

She dived in and pulled them ashore one by one.

Forest Burning On North Shore

VANCOUVER (CP)—A forest fire broke out last night on a North Vancouver mountain in full view of most parts of the city.

The blaze was at the 1,500-foot level on Fromme Mountain, which adjoins Grouse Mountain, a popular skiing and camping area. Motorists were asked to stay clear of the mountain road so that fire equipment could reach the scene.

North Vancouver firemen fought the fire and forest service equipment was on the way to assist them. Fire department officials said the blaze was spreading and firemen were hampered by burning trees falling across the only road, and by a poor water supply.

Threat 'Reason Enough'

Ben-Gurion Won't Relax Border Rules for Arabs

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Premier David Ben-Gurion Wednesday rejected parliamentary moves to abolish military government in frontier areas.

He told the Knesset (parliament) that United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser's threat earlier this week "to destroy Israel" is reason enough for his refusal.

Left-wing and right-wing groups in the Knesset had submitted motions for lifting military rule and all the restrictions it imposes on Arab citizens of Israel.

Ben-Gurion accused these groups of submitting the motions in order to gain the support of Arab voters in parliamentary elections to be held later this year.

He promised, however, to recommend certain measures Monday for easing some of the restrictions on the movement of Israeli Arabs in the frontier areas. The Knesset then agreed to postpone a vote on the various motions until it hears Ben-Gurion's recommendations. The controls restrict the movement of some 100,000 Arabs in Galilee, 40,000 Arabs in the "triangle" area close to the Jordanian border and 14,000 nomad Bedouins in the southern Negev Desert.

LONDON—The Icelandic government has prepared a booklet setting out Iceland's case in its fishing dispute with Britain and criticizing British policy. The British foreign office called the booklet's claims "nonsense" and "absurd."

She Missed the Boat —With the Champagne

RAY CITY, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. Lillian McCormick missed the boat—with the champagne bottle.

Sponsoring party had to board a tug and follow the destroyer Lynde McCormick into the harbor for the christening. Vessel is named after Mrs. McCormick's late husband, an admiral.

Scots Expected Hundreds Strong For Highland Games Saturday

Victoria's Scots are expected to turn out hundreds strong Saturday for an event officially billed as the 22nd Annual Highland Games but which is close to its 100th year of local performances.

Officials of the Victoria Highland Games Association said yesterday that a near-record number of pipe band entries has been received from British Columbia and U.S. points.

The games, which start at 9 a.m. at Macdonald Park, will be officially opened at 1 p.m. by Robert Strachan, leader of the opposition in the B.C. legislature.

Pipe band entries have been received so far from the Canadian Scottish, official games band, plus Canadian Scottish Cadets, Seattle Pipe Band, Eugene, Ore., Pipe Band, Seaforth Highlanders Pipe Band, Seaforth Highlander Cadet Pipe Band, Nanaimo Pipe Band, Victoria Schools Pipe Band, Victoria Girls' Pipe Band.

Events scheduled for the games come under the headings of dancing, piping and athletics.

Soccer Plans Hazy

Evcoes Wait For Friday

Victoria Evcoes and five remaining mainland soccer teams are anxiously awaiting the outcome of a meeting at Vancouver Friday night which is hoped will clear up many problems surrounding the new semi-pro winter league.

Members of the B.C. Soccer Commission will huddle with officials of the Pacific Coast Soccer League in an effort to solve some of these problems prior to the annual PCSL meeting in mid-August.

The B.C. commission must also give its approval to the semi-pro status but this is regarded as nothing more than a formality.

One of the main items at Friday's meeting will be the appointment of a temporary president for the new winter league. Also expected to draw considerable discussion is the semi-pro playing form.

The Pacific Coast League ended its summer operation last night at Vancouver as Halecos took fourth place by beating Continentals. The semi-pro league had been voted in only Tuesday and the cancelling of remaining games was done in an effort to give officials time to iron out the many problems of the winter loop.

Meanwhile, Evcoes are busily preparing for their Sunday Dominion Cup match against New Westminster Royals. The game will be played at Royal Athletic Park at 2:30 p.m.

Stock Up Family Larder

Langford's fishing Petries had themselves quite a morning yesterday while fishing at the Goldstream end of Saanich Inlet. Papa Jerry, shown with his catch, boated spring salmon weighing 27 pounds, six ounces and 23 1/2 pounds. Nine-year-old John Petrie, who is manfully holding up brother Gary's 24-pounder, did his share by besting a 10-pounder. All were taken on a Strip-Teaser and entered in the daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest at Hall's Boathouse. Entries on page 14.—(Colonist photo)

Vancouver's Claire Lovett Upset by California Girl

Val Williamson of Eureka, Calif., scored the first big upset of the current B.C. Lawn Tennis championships when she defeated third-seeded Claire Lovett of Vancouver, 2-6, 7-5, 8-6, in quarter-final play in the ladies' singles Wednesday night.

Miss Williamson meets the winner of an all-Victoria quarter-final match between Diane Lawrence and Joy Watson in the semi-finals.

In the other semi-final, it will be second-seeded Patty Miller against Sharon Whitaker of Victoria. Miss Miller, from Portland, moved ahead yesterday with a slam-bang, 6-4, 7-5 triumph over Elizabeth Locke of Fullerton, Calif.

Another upset was recorded in the men's doubles when the Victoria combination of city-champion Ted Smythe and Bill Sparling, singles champion of the host Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club, reached the quarter-finals with a 6-2, 0-6, 9-7 triumph over Tony Damiani of Sacramento and Howard Lee of Los Angeles.

In what was the best doubles match of the tournament and net-crowding tactics proved too much over the favored California combination.

Seeded players all advanced in men's singles. First-rated Bill Hoogs of California reached the quarter-finals with a 6-2, 6-3 win over Bud McCoy of Portland.

Second-seeded Dale Rohland of North Hollywood moved into the next round with a 9-7, 6-1 conquest of Don Stensas of Modesto and third-seeded Jim Jackson of Portland took off Californian Dick Kraft, 6-2, 6-3.

Damiani, seeded fourth, won over Smythe, 6-2, 6-4, to reach the semi-finals.

In mixed doubles Miss Lawrence and Ray Aldinger of Victoria defeated the Seattle pairing of Ross and Pat Hughes to reach the quarter-finals and Miss Miller and Rohland, the top-seeded combination, advanced at the expense of Snia Berdan of Palo Alto and Andy Nasser of Pasadena.

Winners of Saturday games will play at 3 p.m. Sunday for the Island title and a trip to Penitence for the B.C. championships to be held Aug. 7 and 8.

Losing teams from semi-final games will play at 1 p.m. Sunday in a consolation preliminary to the final.

McMinn vs. Nasser; Lawrence vs. Watson; Whitaker and Wells vs. Elmsly and Damiani.

6:00 p.m.—Aldinger vs. Bentley; Doig and Lock vs. Elmsly and Lawrence; Cox and Watson vs. Berdan and Williamson; Smythe and Sparling vs. Stensas and Doyle; Dos Jariels and Williamson vs. McCormick and Brown-Cave; Todd and Bolton vs. Wells and Pridemore.

7:30 p.m.—Smythe vs. M. Diamond; 8:00 p.m.—Miller and Rohland vs. Lawrence and Aldinger.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Halecos came from behind a two-goal deficit Wednesday night to defeat Vancouver Continentals 3-2 in a Pacific Coast League soccer game.

The game was the final contest of the season following the league's decision to end the current amateur play in favor of a semi-professional league to start in September.

Bill Nicol, Don Boyd and Neil McEachnie scored Halecos' goals. Eddie Schmidt and Bob Mackay counted for Continentals earlier in the game.

Uplands Winner

Mrs. Joan Lawson was the winner of the ladies under-15 handicap competition at the Uplands Golf Club on Monday.

She tied with Mrs. Shirley Nayemith with a gross score of 78 but won on the basis of a better score on the back nine holes.

Mrs. F. Green was low net winner with a 77. Mrs. R. Poyntz was runner-up with a 78.

Dodgers Lead National; Also-Rans Enjoy Streaks

Los Angeles Dodgers took over leadership of the National League yesterday and Chicago White Sox boosted their American League edge to a full game but Kansas City Athletics and Philadelphia Phillies, a couple of also-rans, are the talk of baseball at the moment.

Hopelessly out of the running less than two weeks ago, and not yet any pennant threat, the Athletics won their 10th straight game yesterday and extended Washington's losing streak to 11 with a 5-4 win over the Senators.

The two streaks are the longest of the season in the major leagues, and the As are even for the season and only a half game out of third place while the Senators slipped back to the basement.

However, the Phillies, winning their eighth in nine and their 12th in 15th with a 3-1 conquest of San Francisco Giants, can't be blamed if they think they're on a treadmill. They're still trailing the other seven National League clubs, are three games out of seventh place and 12 1/2 behind the Dodgers.

Sports Revival Sought By Victoria Councillors

An effort to revive Victoria's athletic prowess of past years was proposed yesterday by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

And, although Coun. Joseph Casey of Saanich predicted nothing but requests for money, the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee decided to confer with sports representatives on the matter.

Recalling that Victoria used to have some of Canada's best athletes in numerous fields, Ald. Edgelow said athletes hand, maintained that money was needed these days to attract athletes.

"There's very little amateur sport today, let's face it," he said, "and those fellows sell themselves to the highest bidder."

Ald. Edgelow said he meant that sport should be encouraged right from the start in Greater Victoria schools.

"The minute you produce an outstanding athlete, some college will give him a free scholarship," Coun. Casey replied.

Coun. Fred Robinson of Oak Bay agreed that too little attention was given to sports, "and we have to spend money on other activities."

Coun. Casey, on the other

Two members of the Calgary Stampede will miss the club's fourth exhibition football game tonight at Kitchener after a post-game fight at Montreal Tuesday night sent one player to hospital with facial lacerations.

What started out to be a friendly bull session ended up with Stampede's import quarterback Joe Kapp being taken to Montreal General Hospital to have stitches taken in his chin.

Kapp's sparring partner was Canadian guard-line backer Doug Brown, a second-year man with the Stampede and former Victoria Navy player.

Both players were questioned by head coach Otis Douglas following the flareup. Douglas said disciplinary action would follow.

"It was a case of two high-strung boys flaring up. They were good friends before this and I'm sure there'll be no hard feelings," said Douglas.

whose club dropped the Montreal encounter, 28-21.

Neither player made the trip for tonight's game as Calgary attempts to win its first pre-season at the expense of the Ontario Rugby Union's Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Nobby Wirkowski will replace Kapp as the Stampede quarterback. Stamps are expected to dress 32 men.

Meanwhile, B.C. Lions will seek a third straight exhibition win tonight at Ottawa where they meet the Rough Riders before an expected crowd of 15,000.

The game will mark Ottawa's first appearance of the season and is expected to be played in 90-plus degree weather. Ottawa coach Frank Clair has indicated he will cut several imports and Canadians following the game.

Centre of attraction will be Lions' quarterback sensation Randy Duncan, former Iowa University ace. Ottawa previously held Canadian contract rights to Duncan but sold them to B.C.

Bill Wakeham Upset By B.C. Teammate

MONTREAL—Two of B.C.'s four representatives, including Victoria's Bill Wakeham, were eliminated here Wednesday during the first two rounds of the Dominion Junior match play golf championships.

Wakeham fell one up to Vancouver's Terry Campbell, a team-mate of Wakeham's on B.C.'s four-man squad that finished third in Tuesday's first interprovincial junior team matches. The 1957 junior champion from Victoria trailed by one stroke after the first nine holes.

After upsetting Wakeham, Campbell was eliminated in the second round, losing 5 and 4 to Ray Zawowski of Montreal.

B.C. players who survived Wednesday's play were John Morgan and Al Kennedy of Vancouver. Morgan trounced Peter Davidson of Trois Rivières, 9 and 7, before taking a second-round match from David Lowry of Windsor, 5 and 3 in the first round. Kennedy defeated Stan Clarke of Montreal, 5 and 3, in the first round.

round and later beat John Kindred of Peterborough, 5 and 3. Both will compete in today's third-round play. Semi-finals are scheduled this afternoon.

Heavily favored to win the Canadian title is defending champion Bobby Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont. Panasiuk reached the third round by pulling off a spectacular shot out of a fairway trap to preserve a one-up win over Eddie Ross, Jr., of Saskatoon.

Panasiuk, 1958 winner, had downed Andre Tremblay of Montreal by a whopping 8 and 6 margin in first-round competition.

In Wednesday's only extra-hole match, George Stokes of St. Catharines, Ont., defeated Ron Richter of Landover, Ind., the only U.S. entry in the tourney.

Stokes earlier edged Mike Whitney of Kitchener, 2 and 1, to enter the second round.

Clarke will enter Major Turley in Saturday's Speed Handicap at Lansdowne Park but likely will not enter his new purchase in the $7,500 Premier's Handicap on Monday.

Clarke also owns Postillon and Gollywood, two regulars on B.C. tracks. It is not known if he eventually plans to ship the horse east to the Prairie circuit.

Major Turley was exercised before yesterday's card at Lansdowne. An exhibition race with Kadra and Big Debate was not run, as planned.

ALTHEA GIBSON ... at 'fifty' stage

Speaking Briefly

Althea Gibson May Turn Pro

Promoter Jack Kramer may soon add still another famous name player to his professional tennis troupe in the person of 1958 woman athlete of the year Althea Gibson.

An offer has been made to Miss Gibson to head an all-women's professional tour that will operate in competition with Kramer's highly successful group of male players.

"Everything is in an 'fifty' stage at the moment but the tour idea still is very much in the picture," said the two-time Wimbledon Cup champion after receiving the woman athlete award at a special New York banquet yesterday.

Three amateur players, Britain's Christine Truman and U.S. stars Beverly Fleitz and Darlene Hard, are thought to be candidates for the proposed team.

his rookie year with the St. Louis Cardinals have called up right-handed pitcher Bob Gibson from Omaha of the American Association. Gibson, 29 with Omaha, will replace Dick Rickards who goes to Rochester ... Tsuyoshi Yamazaki, Japan's middle and long-distance swimming ace, shattered the world 800 metre record for the second time within eight days. His time was 9:13.3 in a dual meet with the United States at Kure, Japan.

ELSTON HOWARD of the New York Yankees will replace his injured teammate Bill Skowron on the American League all-star team for the second game to be played at Los Angeles Monday. Howard was selected to the 1957 and 1958 teams but saw no action in either games ... Harry Joe's Predominate became the third horse in the 136-year history of the Goodwood

Stakes to win the event two straight years. A 3-1 choice, Predominate covered Britain's oldest handicap course in 4:37.9 to take top money of $4,356 ... Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I., has been named "fighter of the month" by Ring Magazine, boxing's bible. A featherweight, Gomes now ranks fourth in that department.

possibly the greatest array of pro golfers ever assembled will face the challenge of narrow fairways and hard-baked greens today at the Minneapolis Golf Club in the 41st Professional Golfers Association championship.

Among the 174 entered, at least two dozen players are capable of winning the tournament. Some of the top name players are Art Wall, Bill Casper, Sam Snead, Dow Finsterwald, Arnold Palmer, Cary Middlecott, Mike Seuchak and Ken Venturi ... Moe Norman, assistant pro at Toronto's Havilland Golf Centre, romped home in a record four-under-par 68 to win the Millar Trophy pro-amateur tournament.

His 35-33 was worth $100 in prize money. Only Tuesday George Knudson had set a new course record of 69 in qualifying round competition.

King Fisherman

Final Figures Likely Record

Entries continue to pour in for the fifth annual Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest at a rate which is almost certain to result in a new high for the biggest fishing competition on the continent.

May and June were both record months and a new July high is likely. When forms were counted up yesterday afternoon, the total entry for less than three months of the five-and-a-half-month competition was more than 8,300 fish.

COMPARISON

In 1957, when the contest high of 16,399 entries was set the total entry at the end of July was 6,469 fish. Last year, when the season's entry was 16,021 fish, the entry total at the end of July stood at 5,965 fish. At the current rate, the entry for 1959 should reach 20,000 fish, may even approach 25,000.

Big gains have been registered in both the coho and spring salmon divisions, despite unusually windy weather on the east coast of Vancouver Island which kept anglers ashore more days than usual.

As of yesterday, the total number of coho entered was 3,925. Last year the total of silvers entered at the end of July was 2,231, and it was 2,896 for the first three months of 1957.

Spring salmon entered up to yesterday totalled 3,369. By comparison, the July total last year was 2,716 and in 1957 it was 2,862 for the first three months.

'Never Too Young'

Mothers Should Know About Water Safety

TORONTO (CP)—Red Cross executive Helen McArthur says children are never too young to start teaching them water safety.

Miss McArthur, mothering the water safety program until a regular director is named, has some strong beliefs about water safety.

Since the mother is the one usually supervising the children during swimming periods, she believes the mother should know, understand and practice water safety habits.

Even backyard wading pools can become deathtraps if not properly supervised. All the water should be dumped out when the pool is not in use.

"Mothers should only permit children to swim where they know the condition of the bottom," said Miss McArthur. "If the mother doesn't know, she should get right in and find out."

A varied assortment of unrelated dangers often surround the home. A tricycle can provide the transportation to a nearby lake, river or pond.

Excavations, which arouse the curiosity of most children, are danger zones. After rain, the edges will be slippery and there will be water in the bottom.

Wells and cisterns should be covered with heavy planking. The bathtub is extremely hazardous. Small children should never be left alone in the tub.

Plastic toys are fun on the beach, but a slight breeze will carry them out to deep water. Miss McArthur said mothers should teach their children not to be afraid of the water.

Geneva Hope Gone

West Gives Reds One Last Week

GENEVA (UPI)—The Western allies abandoned hope of an early Berlin truce agreement Wednesday night and served notice on Russia that they would end the deadlocked Geneva talks within one week.

U.S. Secretary of State Herbert told Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko he planned to fly back to Washington Aug. 6 whether a Berlin accord had been reached or not.

The U.S. said Gromyko agreed but the Soviets later denied this, saying that "our position is that we should continue working here for positive results."

In Moscow, Premier Khrushchev said it has become clear at Geneva that neither East nor West wish to "upset the present way of life of the people of West Berlin."

"If the people of West Berlin wish to live under capitalism let them," he said. "It is their own domestic matter. We do not intend to interfere."

"All misunderstandings now have been eliminated as regards the term (time limit) of the interim status of West Berlin."

"Indeed we have repeatedly stated that the question of time limits is not of paramount importance."

Plans to Be Laid For Celebration

Planning for next year's Victoria Day celebrations will begin next week.

Greater Victoria Celebrations Committee will meet Tuesday evening to lay the groundwork for the 1960 events. It will also consider the possibility of bringing a carnival to Victoria for a few days at or near the Labor Day weekend.

GOVERNOR LONG
... stewardesses first

Long Raring, Daring

MONROE, La. (UPI)—Governor Earl Long came back to Louisiana yesterday, raring to call a special session of the legislature and daring his political foes to try to impeach him for erratic conduct.

Returning from a 17-day western vacation advised by his physicians for rest and relaxation, the 63-year-old governor gathered a score of state legislators at a makeshift conference room at a Monroe motel to expound his plans for a special session.

Most of the legislators were Long supporters, but many were known to be backing the chief executive's plans to call a special session Aug. 10. Long marched into the motel room where the legislators were lined up in chairs around the wall. The doors were closed and state police stood guard outside.

Impeachment Challenge

Long said the "dirty part" of the strategy conference would be private.

His plans for that emergency session include, among others things, a bill to allow airline stewardesses to keep on working after they get married.

Asked what he thought about threats of impeachment that have been voiced by some legislators, Long rasped: "I wish they'd try it. I'll write one up for them if they want me to."

"I ought to be a good show-down."

"You know, they tried to impeach my brother Huey and tried to accuse him of everything but the right thing." He didn't say what "the right thing" was.

'Death Dust' Eaten By U.K. Scientists

HARWELL, England (Reuters) — British scientists here have been eating quantities of strontium — the H-bomb fallout — to discover how it affects the body.

A spokesman of the British Medical Research Council said Wednesday the scientists, who volunteered to eat the "death dust," all are members of the council's radiobiological research unit here.

The most dangerous fallout substance is strontium-90, which in large quantities can cause bone and blood cancer. The scientists have been eating strontium-85, which behaves in exactly the same way as strontium-90 but loses its radioactivity much more quickly.

Some scientists have been swallowing the dust in minute quantities in water or with their food, while others have had it injected in their veins so its progress through the blood can be charted.

Some of the doses have been daily, others at regular intervals.

MAN-SIZED

After the meals and the injections the scientists are taken inside a man-sized gel-counter which shows how the strontium moves through them, where it settles and how it is built up in their bones.

Strontium tends to lodge itself in the bones and by following the substance's progress through the body scientists can see how long the process takes.

Vienna Seeks World's Fair

VIENNA (UPI) — Vienna has made formal application to become the site of the next world's fair.

Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab, in presenting the application, suggested to the International Exhibition Organization in Paris that the fair be held in 1967.

Cadets Take to Air Over Seaway Jam

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The Welland Canal's current ship jam forced the United States Navy into the air Wednesday to return 500 naval academy midshipmen to Annapolis on schedule.

They had been taking their summer cruise aboard navy ships celebrating opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway by visiting Great Lake ports.

Theft to Arrest — Half an Hour, Man Goes to Jail

A 44-year-old Vancouver man who stole a $125 portable radio from a Victoria store Tuesday was arrested less than half an hour after the theft, Magistrate William Ostler was told in city police court yesterday.

Olgar H. Sveinson pleaded guilty to the charge. He blamed alcoholism for the offence and previous offences, dating back to 1931.

TRYING TO SELL

He was arrested at the Naval Veterans' Legion Branch at 1417 Broad Street while attempting to sell the radio.

Magistrate Ostler sentenced him to four months.

A 17-year-old youth who smiled as Magistrate Ostler gave him a tongue-lashing, was given a suspended sentence on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences.

"I don't know whether you are smiling because you are nervous," Mr. Ostler observed. "I hope that is what it is."

'WORTH TRYING'

"This is probably a very undeserving case for suspended sentence," Mr. Ostler continued. "but I dislike sending you to jail. Certainly, I think probation is worth trying."

Vogel pleaded guilty to obtaining $10 cash when he offered a cheque for $66.50 for payment of a $56.50 service station account on April 7. The case was transferred from juvenile court.

He was put on his own $500 bond for 12 months on condition that he return to Haney with his mother, remain in the area unless given permission to move and obtain employment.

PARKING TICKETS

Failure to pay 10 parking tickets in time cost a Victoria man $20 extra yesterday morning.

If Donald Wilson, 2028 Phillips, had paid the tickets within 24 hours he would have been charged only $1 each.

But in city police court yesterday Magistrate Ostler fined Wilson $2.50 each, with $5 court costs — a total of $30.

Union Wins First Share In Automation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —

Probably the first major labor contract to share the benefits of automation with workers has been agreed upon by leaders of 17,000 west coast longshoremen and waterfront employers.

The agreement was reached by negotiations for Harry Bridges' Independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Association.

The old contract expired June 15. The new one, subject to ratification by both sides, would run three years.

In return for the union's promise to furnish competent personnel to man labor-saving devices, the employers agree to contribute a $1,500,000 fund during the first year of the pact as payment for the men's share of increased productivity. How this fund is to be distributed remains to be settled.

First Ships Of Season At Churchill

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP) —

The first three ships to reach this Hudson Bay port this year arrived Monday night and Tuesday within a 24-hour period.

The first ship was the freighter North Devon, commanded by Capt. H. W. Charlton, who had been here before as skipper of North Anglia.

Although Capt. Charlton said ice conditions on the route to Churchill appeared to be about the same as in other years, the ice information officer here said patrols reported the ice was the worst since 1912. Patrols are operating from Churchill and Frobisher Bay, N.W.T.

The officer said the iceberg situation is dangerous through Hudson Strait and its eastern approaches. Shipping has been routed west of the usual track.

New Budget In Manitoba $121,000,000

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier

Duff Roblin Tuesday night brought down his first budget since his Progressive Conservatives won power in 1958, calling for spending to reach $121,000,000, compared with $105,000,000 in the 1958-59 budget of the former Liberal-Progressive government.

Mr. Roblin forecast a surplus of $5,347,000 at the end of the 1959-60 fiscal year next March 31, compared with a surplus of $3,700,000 for the 1958-59 year.

He proposed no tax changes but outlined planned increases in fees charged for services provided by the provincial government.

'No Power to Compel'

SEATTLE (AP) — An attorney for the Seattle Real Estate Board, which is appealing a state order directing a white couple to sell its home to a Negro, rested his case Wednesday without calling a single witness.

George Toulouse, Jr., said he intends to rely entirely on the argument that the state has no power to compel a man to sell his home.

The Washington State board against discrimination last April ordered Coast Guard Cmdr. and Mrs. John J. O'Meara to sell their home in an all-white residential district to Robert L. Jones, a Negro mail carrier.

O'Meara's equity in the home was purchased by the Seattle Real Estate Board, which appealed the order as unconstitutional.

A parade of witnesses for the state had testified to the danger of racial segregation and its effects on United States foreign relations, prompting Superior Court Judge James W. Hodson, to comment:

"Most of the testimony I have heard has had no bearing on (this) legal question."

Manitoba to Speed Forced Transfusions

WINNIPEG (CP)—Legislation that would allow authorities to act quickly in providing blood transfusions for children of Jehovah's Witnesses was introduced Wednesday in the legislature.

Attorney-General Sterling Lyon indicated in introducing the amendment to the Child Welfare Act that the government action was prompted by the death of a 14-year-old boy last fall in St. Boniface Hospital.

The boy, wounded in a shooting accident near his home at Neepawa, Man., was the son of a couple who were Jehovah's Witnesses. The parents refused to allow transfusions and he died 10 days after the accident.

The new legislation is designed primarily to remove the 14-day waiting period between any move by the province and the committal of a neglected child to provincial custody.

Under the legislation, the province may appoint three doctors to examine a child alleged to be "neglected" under terms of the act. After hearing the doctors' evidence, a judge may classify the child as neglected if he sees fit and clear the way for medical action.

"It will extend the umbrella of protection over those who cannot make up their minds for themselves," said Mr. Lyon.

Councils' Backing Asked

B.C. Vote on Labor Court Urged on Government

CCF Leader Against Labor Court

CCF leader Robert Strachan said last night he didn't think "you could get the people of B.C. to vote for forced labor in the province," which, he said, a labor court would mean.

The opposition leader told the Colonist from Nanaimo he was against a labor court — "It would indicate force, forcing men to work, so I'm against it."

"That's the sort of thing you would have in Russia."

Busy Schedule

Chamber to Urge Fluoridation Vote Despite Setback

Decision of the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee to try to stage off a fluoridation plebiscite for more than a year won't halt a Victoria Chamber of Commerce drive to get a public vote on the issue next December.

"We're disappointed but we'll go ahead anyway," Ira Hill, chairman of a public affairs group committee on fluoridation stated last night.

SECOND BLOW

The decision of the intermunicipal committee to recommend that the issue be held from the public until December, 1960, was the second blow to the hopes of Victoria's fluoridationists in a week.

Earlier the directors of the chamber of commerce refused to endorse the dental health measure, but told its public affairs group to go ahead with its program to seek a vote and place fluoridation facts before the public.

VERY ANNOYED

Earlier yesterday the chairman of the group, Eric Mallett, who was away from the city when the chamber of commerce directorate took its vote, declared "I was very annoyed when I read the outcome of our resolution (on fluoridation) . . ."

He said the decision of the intermunicipal committee "doesn't worry me very much. Our committee under Ira Hill will go ahead with its program anyway."

PUBLIC HEALTH MEASURE
He said that the adding of fluorides to water is a public health measure and shouldn't even need a public vote.

"If the vote fails then there is always the provincial legislation approach."

He said he will take up the subject of the chamber of commerce directorate's refusal to endorse the measure at its next meeting.

FIRST MEETING

Mr. Hill, meanwhile, said his fluoridation committee held its first meeting yesterday and will shortly make formal approaches to all four Greater Victoria councils asking for a December vote on the issue.

"After that we'll go ahead with our plan to inform the public of the facts," he said.

Public to Get Pros, Cons

The people of Greater Victoria won't vote on fluoridation of the water supply before December, 1960, if the intermunicipal committee has its way.

The committee recommended to Greater Victoria councils yesterday that fluoridation not be put to a vote for "at least a year."

WATERING DOWN

The action followed recent watering-down by the Chamber of Commerce of a public affairs group plan to push for fluoridation and seek a favorable vote in the elections this December. The group was authorized only to conduct an information program.

Coun. G. K. Sammon of Esquimalt, a strong advocate of fluoridation, told intermunicipal pal committee that "the electors in my opinion are not ready for a poll."

MUCH MORE WORK

Before putting the question to the voters, he said, there should be much more thorough work from the educational point of view than there had been yet.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell, who said he didn't know if he would be for it or against it, agreed that the public should have more of the pros and cons before a vote.

"He wondered if councils should be asked for 'a certain amount of money for a study' 'Oh, no!' said Mayor Percy Scurrell."

EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN
"But money is needed for an educational campaign," said Ald. Edgell.

"It's not the prerogative of a council to spend the taxpayers' money on that," said Coun. Fred Robinson of Oak Bay.

"When so many are against it," agreed Mayor Scurrell. Coun. Sammon agreed, too. It was up to the health authorities and the doctors and dentists, he said.

'Nothing to Say at All' Says Labor Minister

By R. O. MARRION

The provincial government was challenged yesterday to find out how the people feel about establishing a B.C. labor court to settle industrial disputes.

Intermunicipal committee unanimously recommended that Greater Victoria councils endorse asking the government to hold a referendum on the question.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks, who recently said that neither labor nor management wants compulsory settlement of strikes and that the public has not indicated a desire for this step, wouldn't comment on the committee's action.

"Nothing to say at all," he said.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell suggested to the committee that in view of Mr. Wicks' statements, asking for a referendum would be "quite in order."

"The average person in the street doesn't want strikes; and it seems the average working man doesn't want them," he said.

"The time has come when labor and management should be forced to get together," agreed Coun. Fred Robinson of Oak Bay, "and not let a small minority—which is what they are—upset the whole economy of the province. It's beyond a joke."

The decision arose from discussion of the need for an industrial development commission in Victoria.

Ald. Edgell said one problem in attracting industry was the labor unrest in the province. Mr. Wicks said the people weren't ready for government intervention, he said, "but I don't think he's in a position to know unless he asks the people if they want a labor court. It's high time it was put to the people to find out what they want."

The committee also approved a proposal by Ald. Edgell that Russell Dudley of the industrial development commission in Nanaimo be invited to address it and Chamber of Commerce representatives on the organization and work of such a commission.

Nanaimo, Ald. Edgell said, had attracted 11 new industries in the past year, "and I think we ought to consider having a Greater Victoria industrial development commission."

Emergency Call Plan

The committee decided to investigate the possibility of an existing telephone answering service handling emergency calls through a single number.

Mayor Scurrell said he had been informed by the telephone company that a full-scale, single emergency-call system for the southern end of Vancouver Island would cost $100,000 a year and that to have a single emergency phone number for Victoria alone would cost $800 a month plus the cost of operation.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell questioned the latter figure, pointing out that he subscribed to a telephone answering service for less than $25 a month, and the committee decided to seek further information.

District Awaits Report

The committee will await a report from the attorney-general's department on the desirability of a unified juvenile court in the area before discussing it further.

The report is being prepared.

The committee was told, by Dr. Gilbert Kennedy, deputy attorney-general.

Reeve Chatterton suggested waiting for the report.

"Then we'll know what we're talking about as to the need," he said.

Ferry 'Top Priority'

Establishment of a committee to give "top priority" consideration to Victoria's ferry situation and to take any action deemed advisable, was approved.

The committee, to be appointed by Mayor Scurrell and to include Chamber of Commerce as well as municipal representatives, will have two suggestions from councils before it for a start.

Oak Bay has proposed that the provincial government be asked to requisition either continued CPR service from Victoria to Vancouver or Black Ball service from Sidney after the CPR's scheduled September cutoff date and until the new provincial ferries are running.

Victoria has proposed that the federal government be asked to subsidize continued CPR service as a stop-gap.

Two Proposals Added

Coun. Fred Hawes of Oak Bay added two more proposals yesterday: that if a stopgap CPR service is arranged, the committee make recommendations on the type of service wanted by Victoria, and that a "piggy-back" service for truck-trailers from the south end of the Island be sought.

"We want some transportation system to look after freight," Coun. Hawes said, and he held that the answer would be a barge system for truck-trailers without having to go to Nanaimo.

"Conditions here are ideal for light industry if the transportation system is economical," he said.

But as matters stood, he added, Victoria was being sold down the river.

He expressed doubt that the new government ferries would be able to give a "piggy-back" service in which trailers without tractors would be carried between Sidney and the mainland.

Patient City Awaits Bridge Repair Cost

Victoria is still waiting for reimbursement for the $21,584 cost of repairing Johnson Street bridge after the span was struck by the towed hull of the Salvage King in April.

And while the city waits, it is losing 5 per cent interest on that much money, city comptroller Dennis Young said yesterday.

B.C. Packers Workers Walk Off Job

Strike deadline at 11 a.m. yesterday saw shore workers walk off job at B.C. Packers Ltd. Ogden Point plant. They joined salmon net fishermen, also members of United Fishermen and Allied Workers, who went on strike last Saturday. Dispute has brought B.C.'s $100,000,000 fishing industry to standstill. See story on Page 35.—(Colonist photo.)

With no facilities open to handle fish catch, Carl Harold, 201 Russell, skipper of the 43-foot troller Summit, yesterday had leisure time to enjoy a cup of coffee at Fisherman's Wharf. Strike by 3,500 workers halted fishing.—(Colonist photo.)

Oak Bay Assured

Convicts Here 'Hand-Picked'

Justice Minister Davie Fulton has assured Oak Bay council that federal prison authorities are "making every effort" to carefully screen candidates for Victoria's prison-without-bars at William Head.

His assurance came on the heels of a council request to increase the intensity of the screening process used to determine which prisoners will be sent to the model institution.

Council's request followed a series of escapes from the William Head prison.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said last night he was satisfied with the justice minister's assurances.

"He assured us that none of the prisoners sent to William Head are of the dangerous type and are hand-picked inmates."

"I think those fellows out there are just bored stiff. They just seem to want something to get a kick out of, even if it means longer prison terms."

He said the men's apparent harmlessness is probably attested "by the fact that they never make much of an effort to get away."

"They seem to always give themselves up, and then, of course, the last man just lay out in full view on a beach until he was arrested."

City detectives immediately searched the city but were unable to find a youth answering the description.

Listing of City Voters Will Begin on Monday

Registration of city voters will begin Monday, continuing until the end of September.

Names of property-owners are placed automatically on the voters' list. Tenant and resident electors—renters of business or residential property—whose names were on the list last year will be sent forms by mail and must return them.

New tenant and resident electors must register at the city clerk's office. To be eligible, residents must be British subjects, 21, and must have lived in the city for six months.

Let's Unite

Unions May Face Solidarity

Greater Victoria councils may present a united front to municipal staff unions in future negotiations.

Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich proposed yesterday that the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee, at its next meeting, consider a united approach in dealing with the unions.

"One man, he suggested, could be engaged to negotiate with the unions on behalf of all the municipalities and to carry on the necessary continuing research."

The municipal representatives would deal with all the unions except the teachers' association—the policemen, firemen, inside and outside staffs, nurses, library workers, non-teaching school board employees and water board outside employees.

In the past, Greater Victoria council members have complained that the unions, negotiating separately in each municipality, have used each other's gains as levers in seeking wage increases. A united front presumably would be designed to overcome this situation.

But He Married Donna Paola

Prince Sent No Flowers

Victoria Woman Describes Rite

By NESTA MORRIS

Mrs. Nesta Morris, 1930 Crescent Road, Victoria, was in Brussels for the recent wedding of Donna Paola Ruffo di Calabria and Prince Albert of Belgium. Having in that city with her daughter and son-in-law, Conte and Contessa Valerie Brigante Colonna, she writes her impressions of the wedding for The Daily Colonist.

I did not sit in the great cathedral with my daughter and son-in-law, but they obtained for me an invitation to a private party to watch from the windows of a large office in a building opposite Saint Gudule Cathedral.

Perhaps no romance has so stirred the imagination of the people of two nations for a long time.

Donna Paola was a young Italian girl of good family but not of royal birth. Now she was to become Princess de Liege.

NICE LITTLE STORY

A rather nice little story had been circulated about the time Donna Paola and Prince Albert met, which was at a party after the coronation of Pope John. All the eligible debutantes had been paraded before the prince.

He had dutifully danced with all of them. He had sent flowers to all of them, but NOT to Donna Paola. Perhaps a subtle way of distinguishing her from the rest.

The day of the wedding I left the house at 8.15 a.m. although the ceremony would not start until 11 a.m. Early as it was, crowds were so dense, the last few hundred yards had to be done on foot. So much excitement! In our party we drank coffee, orange juice and champagne, in that order.

FLAGS LINED ROUTE

Italian and Belgian flags lined the route—even the bright blue, with yellow-centred star of the Belgian Congo. There were splendid police, brass bands, and at 10 a.m., 60 small choir boys entered the cathedral's main door. At 10.30 the first organ music boomed out over the loud speakers and the invited guests began arriving.

Then the Horse guards rode majestically down, immediately preceding the royal cars. There was King Baudouin with Queen Elizabeth, King Leopold with Paola's mother the

TENSE SILENCE

We heard the choral music broadcast and the responses from Albert and Paola. At the last phrase Paola had to repeat, there was a second or two of tense silence—then in a softer voice she gave her responses. It was apparently at this moment that the poor girl became completely overwhelmed and the Cardinal handed her his handkerchief!

The many pictures taken of this represented it as being Albert's handkerchief, but Paola's cousin assured me she was sitting quite near and saw it was the Cardinal's.

THIRTY-FIVE STEPS

Several days later, I returned to Saint Gudule and solemnly walked up its thirty-five steps. The cathedral was practically empty at the time. I stood with my back to the west door, entranced by the sombre majestic Gothic columns flanking the broad nave, the sun filtering through one of the many peerless Renaissance illuminated windows.

The vista ahead seemed endless for beyond and above the massive brass candlesticks and cross upon the high altar yet another beautiful window of the east chapel could be dimly seen.

131 PACES

I started to walk up the aisle, slowly, counting my steps wondering how Paola must have felt. It took me 131 ordinary paces to reach the first of the chancel steps, beyond which to the high altar were a further 30 feet.

Yes indeed, it must have been a terrific ordeal for Donna Paola Ruffo di Calabria and I do not wonder that she had need of the cardinal's handkerchief.

Donna Paola weeps with emotion during the wedding ceremony. It was the Cardinal's handkerchief she used and not Prince Albert's.

Montreal Seen As Culture Centre

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal may become the culture centre of North America when the Place des Arts is completed, says Laszlo Halasz, musical and artistic director of the Empire State Music Festival of New York.

He said the art centre will serve as a home for symphony and for play festivals.

"You have exceptional talent here," he said. "Maureen Forrester is in my opinion the finest concert contralto in the world."

Parents Still Hope Girl Will Return

DUTTON, Ala.—Parents of Patricia Black, 15, who ran away with her married junior high school principal, Roy Nichols, 35, say they still hope she will return.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I read your column every day and am repeatedly struck by the fact that there are a great many people in this world who are bored stiff.

I'm the mother of two active children and I still find time to do a great many interesting things outside my home. I'd like to offer a few suggestions to the bored. These ideas can be carried out without much cost, and they are bound to bring a great deal of happiness:

1. Make scrap books of greeting cards or Christmas cards and take them to the children's ward of a hospital.
2. Invite an elderly couple in the neighborhood for dinner. Give them the joy of a little extra attention before they leave this world.
3. Visit a veterans' hospital and "adopt" someone who has no family contacts nearby.
4. Spend one afternoon a week reading to children or old people in the ward of the hospital nearest your home. They will love it.
5. Make a surprise birthday party for some child whose mother is too busy or cannot afford one.

6. If someone in the neighborhood is ill, take over for a day, cook a meal for the family and clean up the house.

7. Round up all the preschool youngsters on your block and offer to entertain them for a day so their mothers can have an afternoon off.

8. Contact the welfare agency in your city and offer to take a child into your home, if you have time, energy and love to give.

9. Collect magazines and books and take them to hospitals, children's homes and homes for the aged.

10. When you go to church, take someone with you who otherwise wouldn't go. You don't even need a car. If you go on the bus, what's the difference?—EILEEN H.

Dear Eileen: You've offered my readers a 10-point program, blue-printing the fuller life. Your program could well be followed, not only by the bored, but by those whose lives, however active, lack purpose and satisfaction.

I'm Not Bad Looking

Dear Ann: I'm male, 52, and own my own business. I'm not bad looking, and have two married daughters. My wife passed away three years ago and I'm very lonely. I suppose I'm crazy to think you could help, but I have nothing to lose but a stamp.

A few times I've walked into cocktail lounges because I've been so blue. The bartenders are always happy to point out the women in the place who are "looking." As far as I'm concerned, they can keep on looking. I want a decent, respectable woman around my own age, and they just don't seem to be available.

My greatest pleasure is to play pinocle with the boys. But five nights a week at the card table is a poor substitute for what I really want—CHRIS.

Dear Chris: A guy like you gets smart and says to himself, "Chris, you're not going to meet any women in that pinocle game." Then he cuts a week and joins groups where men and women get together.

Apparently you've been so busy with the boys you haven't been reading me regularly. This is what I recommend: Join a library

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Everett M. Ritcey, Halifax, announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Eileen, to Mr. George Newport Woollett, son of Mrs. Herbert G. Woollett and the late Mr. Woollett of Victoria. The wedding will take place on Aug. 22 at 3 p.m. at St. Andrew's United Church, Halifax.

Skirts Above Knee

PARIS (UPI)—Skirts must be lifted above the knee, Dior designer Yves Mathieu Saint-Laurent decreed yesterday in an exclusive interview that blew the lid off the current Paris fall fashion season.

The brilliant, young, 23-year-old designer's interview with UPI came less than 24 hours before he presents his fall collections.

His word on shorter skirts flew smack against the lengthening hemlines that other designers have been showing all week in this world fashion capital.

But audacity is a Dior tradition. The late, great Christian Dior made his name in 1947 with a "new look" that lengthened hemlines while all the other fashion houses were hiking them.

EQUAL MASTER

The world followed Dior—and has ever since. Yesterday Saint-Laurent—who took over brilliantly after Dior's death two years ago—made his bid to equal the master's major stroke of a dozen years ago.

Whether the fashion world would follow him was a gamble. But gambling—and winning—is also a Dior tradition, backed up by a world fashion empire and the fortune of French textile magnate Marcel Boussac. Dior has branches in Europe, the United States, South America and the Far East.

"The secret of my silhouette is in the skirt and the way it is worked," Saint-Laurent said.

Suit jackets will be short (those of others are longer this season). Shoulders will be narrow (the rest of the fashion pack has broadened them). Collars will be small (hardly a Paris dressmaker has failed to feature the broad collars this week). Fabrics will be soft and supple (others are stiff).

Shasta Place. It is the seventh year that the Milligans have given their home and spacious lawns to the Auxiliary to the Blind for the affair.

Two-hundred and sixty people attended the party—special guests, the blind, their drivers and guides.

During the whole happy afternoon, music by the HMCS Naden band, drifted through the summer air. Bandleader Petty Officer K. Nelson finished the program with selections from "My Fair Lady."

Mrs. Lael Edwards was general convener. Guests were seated at individual tables on the lawn and at the one larger table were the special guests, Lady Drayton, Mrs. Owen Fowler, Mrs. W. Gilmour, Hon. and Mrs. T. C. Davies, Canon and Mrs. H. J. Jones, Mr. A. J. Messerschmidt, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. O'Neil, Mrs. Percy Scourrah and the vice-president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Reginald Wilde.

At the end of the party, when the band played God Save the Queen, the voices of the blind could be heard above the orchestra.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-digesting mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unblocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

Cartier's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, get Cartier's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Cartier's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat.

Couple Receives Papal Blessing

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Jarvis, 1319 Camosun Street, recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a family gathering at their home.

They were married in Holy Rosary Cathedral, Vancouver, on Sept. 15, 1909, by Father R. Madden, O.M.I.

Mr. Thomas Jarvis, a son, with his wife and children, Carol and Terence, is in Victoria. Twin daughters, Mrs. S. E. Berry (Sidney), of Seattle, and Mrs. R. Cannon (Sylvia), Vancouver, were present.

Twenty-two relatives present included Mr. Jarvis' sister, Mrs. Blanche Cooke of Vancouver, and Miss Rose Maguire, Victoria.

Foremost among the congratulatory messages received was a scroll inscribed with the papal blessing and signed by Pope John XXIII.

Succulent Sauce Good with Fish

With hundreds of fish a'frying in pans indoors and outdoors across the country this summer, the secret of success is the sauce. Here's simple one made with green olives that could be made in advance of the fishing trip and, with luck, be used.

To prepare the olive chive sauce whether right on your own kitchen range or over an open fire or barbecue, combine the following:

One cup sour cream, ½ cup chopped chives, ¼ cup finely chopped pimento-stuffed green olives, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, ½ teaspoon celery salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Mix well and serve — makes about one and ¼ cups.

Another sauce that goes equally well with trout is Whipped Butter Sauce.

One cup butter or margarine, softened, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon celery salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup chopped stuffed green olives.

Blend well, serve as desired. Makes about two cups.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

BEAUTY IN TRANSIT—For travel-bound lovelies, there are many new aids to grooming. Those below were especially designed to keep you fresh and comfortable during your travels. Moreover, they are packaged for convenient use and non-spill stowage.

1. For a quick make-up change en route, pocket-size make-up remover in individual plastic envelopes. 2. So as to avoid harsh washroom soaps, a purse-size packet of tissue, impregnated with pure castile.

Rovers to Hold Mountain Moot

BANFF (CP) — More than 600 Canadian Rover Scouts will meet near here for six days starting Aug. 27 for what Scout officials call a "moot in the mountains."

The moot—a meeting—is only the third Canadian Rover Scouts have held at a national level. They will set up camp near Mount Eisenhower. Premier Manning of Alberta is expected to open the moot.

Canadian Women Lazy?

CALGARY (CP)—Canadian women are inclined to be a little lazy, says Mrs. Rose Cooper, a civil defence worker in Calgary and Trail, B.C.

"They enjoy sitting back and letting Mrs. Smith or Mrs. Jones do everything," she says.

"Occasionally they join a club and throw their hearts and souls into social activities, but does their duty lie with these select groups, or should they share their loyalty with something much bigger as well?"

"It's about time they forgot

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith and did things themselves." Mrs. Cooper urges women to be concerned about civil defence.

"After all, it's up to them. In the event of attack, it is most likely their husbands will be at work."

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

Forgery Still Suspected

Send Casement Diaries
To Ireland, MP Urges

LONDON (Reuters)—Labor MP Emrys Hughes has appealed in the House of Commons for a return of the diaries of Sir Roger Casement "to where I believe they really belong, in Dublin."

Casement, a one-time British diplomat, was executed in 1916 for allegedly trying to form an Irish brigade in the German army among Irish prisoners-of-war in Germany.

He was captured when he landed in Ireland to organize a rebellion.

HISTORIANS ONLY

Last week Home Secretary R. A. Butler said the controversial Casement diaries have been placed in the public record office, where historians will have access to them. The general public will not be allowed to see them for another 100 years.

Hughes said that until now there have been suspicions that indecent entries in the diaries were forgeries—"interpolations which came from somebody in the intelligence service at Scotland Yard."

"There are allegations that he was a homosexual," Hughes said.

"We have to satisfy the people of Ireland that these documents are genuine and that the suspicion that they are forgeries is due purely to the imagination of the Irish people."

Another Labor MP, Hector Hughes, urged the return "not only of the diaries, but also Casement's ashes."

"They have been asked for by the Irish Republic and there is no reasonable ground why they should not be returned."

"The government," he said, "now is retaining property which, in common honesty, belongs either to the next-of-kin of Casement or to the Irish government."

David Renton, home office undersecretary, replied that genuine seekers after truth, who had the right credentials, Irish included, would be able to study the diaries. He forecast further improvement of relations between Britain and Ireland once doubts concerning the authenticity of the documents are cleared up.

Airline Stewards Fired
In Smuggling Probe

LONDON (Reuters)—Twenty-two persons working for British Overseas Airways Corporation have been dismissed for alleged smuggling activities, an airline spokesman said Wednesday.

He added that most of those dismissed were British stewards and that a number of other cases are being investigated. He gave no details.

The smuggling took place between the British colony of Hong Kong and Calcutta, India, he said.

Newspaper reports here have said two big gold smuggling rings operating through Beirut, Lebanon, and Hong Kong were believed to have organized deals worth millions of dollars.

TV Test Backfires

Drivers Do Better
After Quick Drinks

LONDON (AP)—A television program backfired Tuesday night when three motorists did better after drinking whisky than they did while dry.

The three Britons—two men and a girl—volunteered to help a BBC safety program—"How Good a Driver Are You?"—prove that alcohol slows a driver's reactions.

The test consisted of negotiating an automobile over a set course, with a lot of reversing, turning and going forward and without knocking down or touching a series of posts. The first driver swung sober through the course in 45.5 seconds. Then he drank two whiskies and made it in 42 seconds.

The girl, a 21-year-old secretary, took 44 seconds before the drinks and 38.5 after. The third driver's times: Before 43.5; after 38.

Prof. Robert Drew, of University College, hastened to explain that the experiment was carried out too quickly.

"The second test was taken before the alcohol really had time to get into the bloodstream," said the professor.

"The drivers also knew they were under test conditions and so pulled out that extra little bit."

B.C. Union Fight
Invades Alaska

VANCOUVER (CP)—An inter-union war on the British Columbia coast has stretched into Alaska.

Elroy Robson, vice-president of the 35,000-member Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) said Tuesday the Seafarers' International Union attempted to stop the unloading of a brotherhood-organized ship at Skagway.

The brotherhood is attempting to organize SIU members on the British Columbia coast.

The two unions started an all-out war after SIU members operated Northland Navigation Company ships struck by the National Association of Marine Engineers (N.A.M.E.) which will shortly merge with the brotherhood.

The brotherhood announced recently it has signed most of the crew of the British-Yukon Navigation Company ship Clifford J. Rogers.

It said Tuesday SIU longshoremen unsuccessfully attempted to halt the unloading but eventually did the work.

Jamaica Government
Sweeps Back to Power

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP)—Prime Minister Norman Manley swept back into power Wednesday with a big majority in parliament to carry on Jamaica's socialist government for another five years.

With only a few votes to be counted, unofficial returns indicated Manley's People's National Party would have 28 of the 45 seats in the new House of Representatives. He thanked his supporters in a radio broadcast for a "glorious victory."

The conservative Labor party led by his cousin, Sir Alexander Bustamante, appeared to have taken 16 seats. One independent was elected.

Voting was brisk and comparatively orderly after sporadic campaign violence in which one man was killed. Only isolated clashes were reported Tuesday as strong police patrols guarded polling places in the capital. One Labor candidate in Kingston

Garden Notes

Off with Their Heads—Now

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRMS

Most of the rose varieties we grow hereabouts are not strictly everbearing kinds; rather, they put on one display of bloom in June and July, then pass through a midsummer flowerless period, with another flush of flowers in late summer and fall. The first period is about over now, and the removal of the finished flower heads should be a routine job.

The prompt removal of these spent blooms is a big help in producing a good show of flowers in autumn, and the job should really be considered a form of summer pruning. Don't hesitate to cut the stem fairly hard back, making the slanting cut immediately above an outward-facing bud.

Mildew is a very disfiguring disease in roses, and seems to be particularly common this year. In mild cases, the whitish mould may be confined to the leaves, or it may develop into a dense white growth on the stems, thorns, flower stalks and buds.

In my garden, Dorothy Perkins is always the first to come down with mildew, with Mrs. Henry Morse a close second, and it is interesting to note that these are both varieties with large and rather soft-textured leaves, while Shot Silk, with glossy, leathery foliage, has never had a speck of mildew.

Any spray or dust containing sulphur or copper will control mildew, and more modern treatments employ Karathane or Acti-Dione, the latter an antibiotic, operating in the same manner as penicillin or streptomycin.

The modern rose dusts all contain a mildew eradicant as one ingredient, and an old-fashioned remedy which still does a good job is a quarter-pound of washing soda in a gallon of soapy water, applied as a drenching spray.

Whatever you use, don't expect one single treatment to clean out mildew for good. In a bad mildew season, regular weekly dusting or sprayings are necessary.

If you have geraniums in your flower beds or window boxes, it isn't a bad idea to take a few cuttings now to be rooted as winter houseplants, slips taken during the next three weeks should, if grown thriftily, start blooming in January.

I always dip my geraniums in Roton before inserting them in damp sand, not so much to speed up rooting, for geraniums are pretty sure rooters even without the hormone treatment, but because Roton contains a fungicide which helps combat the rotting of the slip, a very common hazard.

While cuttings of many plants and shrubs can be rooted in water, I have become a bit sour on this method, except in the case of African Violets, philodendron and ivy. And even with these early rooters, I prefer to get them out of the water and into soil as soon as the first few roots appear.

You see, the roots which form in water are different from those which form in soil or sand. They are thicker and fleshier, and as they have never had to hustle around looking for moisture, they don't have the active, hard-working root hairs you find on normal slips. Such water-rooted cuttings always suffer considerable setback when transferred from water to soil, as the plant has to adapt its roots to the new conditions.

Yes, He Has a Name

Here's the Rest of Fabian

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — You've gotta dislike a guy named Fabian, even before you meet him—especially if he's a rock 'n' roller singer.

Shades of Liberace, Hildegarde and other one-name wonders. Are they ashamed of their other names, or what?

So you go out to 20th Century-Fox with a chip on your shoulder to talk to Fabian, anticipating a hippped-up wise guy.

But surprise, surprise. Other than the need for an immediate haircut, Fabian looks pretty much like the average 16-year-old. He was wearing a clean sport shirt and pressed trousers, and his shoes were shined.

And, by golly, he's got a surname. His complete handle is Fabian Forte (pronounced Fortay). The Fabian is legit, too.

Well-mannered, soft-spoken and modest, Fabian, a native of Philadelphia, also displayed good table manners as he stowed away a hefty lunch in the studio commissary.

Getting to the heart of the matter, Fabian was asked: "Why the single moniker?"

"My first name is odd, uncommon," he explained. "It's the same kind of gimmick Liberace used."

"I didn't plan on my two nicknames, Fabulous and Tiger. Disc jockeys hung them on me. I just turned out an album titled 'Hold That Tiger.' I guess that's what started it."

Fabian looks more like a teddy bear than a tiger, and when he loses his baby fat he could be a double for another successful rock 'n' roller named Ricky Nelson.

In Hollywood for a starring role in "Hound Dog Man," the toy tiger is constantly surrounded by an entourage of advisers.

On this particular day it consisted of his manager, Bob Marucci, a voice teacher, drama coach and publicity man.

"I tried to shake the name Fabian," the singer said. "I never liked it. But it's too late to change now."

Manager Marucci gave it the final touch.

"I checked into a hotel a few months back," he said. "I signed the register, 'Bob Marucci and Fabian,' while the boy was still outside."

"The manager took one look at the register and said, 'Sorry, sir, you can stay here, but we don't allow dogs.'"

Hollywood Today

Master Roberto Was Peevish

ROME (NANA) — Roberto Rossellini was peeved. The previous day, for an Italian television show, "Behind the Cinema Scenes," the TV technicians and cameramen had roamed in the background filming him while he directed his current "Le Generale Della Rovere."

To put it nicely, the whole thing got on his nerves. So, 24 hours later, this not-too-optimistic reporter couldn't get close to The Master to ask some innocuous questions, such as "will you ever make a picture in Hollywood?" or "Are you glad that the courts here have ruled that you are still married to Ingrid Bergman?" or "When and if you are ever free, will you marry the lovely Indian girl, Sonali?"

I just couldn't get past Roberto's glower and his cohort of husky bodyguards, who hissed "shh!" in Italian at me whenever I put an tentative foot forward.

But there was one lass who walked through the male Iron Curtain, the small but stately Sonali, who is in residence at one of Roberto's homes here with her two children. Sonali, with the red mark of high Hindu caste on her forehead, wore a cool red silk sari, with a yellow silk scarf over it. She's a small and dainty and fragile as 'Ingrid Bergman is tall and strong and "open-air" looking.

Rossellini sometimes talks to journalists, I was told, but only when he is in a good mood. I didn't have the time to wait that long.

Incidentally, Leta, the beauty from India who is director David Lean's companion in Venice, is 43 and a grandmother. You'd never guess it.

They have beatniks in Venice, and the beatnik bard is Gregory Corso.

His next film, "The Swindler," starring his wife, Giulietta Masina, and Richard Basehart, will roll the year after next. "Why don't you make pictures in Hollywood?" I asked the 40-year-old director. "Because I don't speak the language or understand the working conditions," he replied in pretty fair English.

To return to Rome, juvenile delinquency is non-existent, I'm told. Teen-agers prefer to stay home. Well, well, well!

The government of Italy has a company, Unitalia, to promote Italian films abroad. One of the representatives, Bruno Bararechia, took me in tow. Between his English and my Italian, both almost nonexistent, I learned that Unitalia is responsible for the rash of film festivals in so many cities in Europe, including Moscow. Made me wonder when if ever, Hollywood will put on a film festival in the logical place, the film capital of the world.

South's hand is a little too strong for a one no-trump opening, which should never exceed 19 points, including points for distribution. North had a responding problem. His square hand suggested a no-trump contract, but, being wide open in two suits, he elected to raise clubs. South, of course, jumped to the no-trump game.

After winning East's diamond jack with the queen, declarer could count eight top tricks. Either spades or hearts might yield the necessary ninth, but an unfortunate guess could endanger the hand. South decided to let the opponents make his guess for him. He carefully cashed only three clubs; then led the diamond ace, followed by another diamond. Either opponent, after winning the third diamond, would have to open up one of the majors.

West won the third diamond lead, and cashed two more diamonds. Dummy stuffed two spades, and declarer one spade and one club; West was now forced either to lead a spade away from the ace, or trap his partner's heart queen. Note that if South cashes all his clubs, he is strapped for a suitable discard on the last diamond.

Refrigerators Replaced Rock 'n' Roll

BETHSWORTH, England (UPI)—Schoolteacher Roy Howden stopped the noon-time rock 'n' roll sessions at nearby John Ruskin grammar school.

Soon, delivery trucks began pulling up to his home here with new vacuum cleaners, refrigerators, washing machines and encyclopedias. Police had a little talk with the parents of some of Howden's students and the deliveries stopped. Now, if someone would take away all this unordered merchandise...

Ugly Reaction If Nikita Visits U.S.?

Public Must Be Conditioned
Warns Cautious Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday that Vice-President Nixon has "acquitted himself splendidly" in Russia but "only time can tell" whether his visit will help ease U.S.-Russian tensions.

The president made clear at his news conference that Nixon had no authority to invite Soviet Premier Khrushchev to visit the U.S. He said, however, that the vice president was free to discuss the idea on a personal basis.

Dispatches from Russia have indicated Nixon would urge the president to extend an invitation to the Soviet leader.

Although he sidestepped a reply on how he would react to such a suggestion, Eisenhower is known to feel the idea of a Khrushchev visit has merit.

However, he thinks U.S. public opinion would have to be carefully prepared to avoid ugly demonstrations against Khrushchev. The trip also would depend on its acceptance by U.S. allies and the impact it might have in Soviet satellite nations.

LONDON (Reuters)—Every Moscow newspaper published comment and letters from readers Wednesday on the American exhibition in the Soviet capital.

Moscow Radio said the show has too much advertising and too little emphasis on science and engineering.

One newspaper said that "unfortunately an engineer or worker, a scientist or collective farmer will not find here what interests him. Especially, he will not see the America that has created good machine tools, equipment and instruments."

OTTAWA (UPI)—Any decision to hold a summit meeting in Canada would have to wait until the Big Four decides if such a meeting is to take place, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday. Recent reports have suggested Quebec City as a site.

These boys in the Colonist free learn-to-swim classes shout with joy as they hear parents' visiting week starts today. Nearly all of the 1,200 youngsters in the classes can now swim a few strokes and are anxious to demonstrate. Those who aren't swimming yet will be soon.

It's Time for Parents To See Swimming

The big week at The Daily Colonist free learn-to-swim classes starts today.

This is the week when all parents are invited to see their children swim. All but three or four in every class are swimming now and director Margie Naysmith expects to have them all swimming this week.

WEEK EARLY

Actually parents are being invited a week earlier than usual, but Mrs. Naysmith is so proud of this year's progress that she can't wait any longer for the parents to see the results.

This week the classes have been concentrating on back floating.

Class Progress Fills Margie With Pride

easier than floating on your tummies," Mrs. Naysmith tells her fledglings.

"You don't have to put your face in the water. Put your head well back. Your ears must be in the water. Pull your chest muscles out—see, now you are floating," she says.

"If you find you are not floating, you haven't put your head far enough back. Push yourself a little bit with your feet."

Mrs. Naysmith says back floating is ideal for posture control. "These people who stand erect won't have any trouble. You people with round shoulders will have to pull your shoulders back."

She says learning to float is even more important than swimming because often a person can float until a rescuer comes when they couldn't swim far enough to reach safety.

NEXT SUBJECTS

During the next swim class week, which starts today, youngsters will learn to arm-stroke on their backs. After that breathing and distance swimming will be the main subjects until the youngsters are ready to take their tests.

Swimmers now, these brothers watch youngsters who need special attention from Colonist swim instructors. Gary Angus, 8, is proud because he can swim eight strokes. His brother, Brian, 11, right, can "swim quite far now." They live at 1145 Hadfield and are ready for parents' week at Elk Lake. —(Colonist photos.)

Hospital's Money Request Set Aside for Legal Study

Request of St. Joseph's Hospital for commitments totalling $300,000 from Greater Victoria council toward construction of a new wing was tabled by intermunicipal committee yesterday for study of legal circumstances.

But municipal representatives indicated clearly they were sympathetic to the request.

AFTER JUBILEE

Coun. G. K. Sammon of Esquimalt said St. Joseph's Hospital wanted assurance from the councils that after completing payment of $396,000 to Royal Jubilee Hospital toward a new wing, they would contribute $300,000 to St. Joseph's. The hospital asked that the committee recommend to councils that they commit themselves to contributing, over a three or four-year period, these sums: Victoria, $136,000; Saanich, $100,000; Esquimalt, $27,000; Oak Bay, $37,000.

SAME STATUS

Coun. Fred Hawes of Oak Bay questioned whether councils could make donations to a privately-operated hospital, and Coun. Sammon said St. Joseph's was recognized by the province as having "the same, identical status as Royal Jubilee Hospital."

Committee members

wondered also if the municipalities should not have more representation on St. Joseph's board of management, and a decision was postponed in order to look into all these points.

It's just a moral obligation," said Mayor Scurrah. "We've done it before."

Another 4,000 Men Join Fish Walkout

Labor Unrest in B.C.

May Be Worst Since War

VANCOUVER (CP)—Some 4,000 fisheries workers have joined the growing army of men unemployed through strikes in British Columbia.

The shoreworkers and tendermen Wednesday joined 5,000 salmon fishermen and more than 25,000 coast woodworkers in strikes.

It is estimated that some 40,000 British Columbians are out of work through strikes. Last time the woodworkers, in the province's $400,000,000 primary industry, and fishermen, who represent the $38,000,000 second industry, were on strike together was in 1932.

POST-WAR RECORD?

In that year, the worst since the Second World War, some 1,132,000 man-days were lost through strikes. Some reports say the province is headed for a post-war record in industrial unrest.

James Sinclair, spokesman for the Fisheries Association of B.C., which represents the companies involved, forecast a long fisheries strike.

He said it was called just before the peak run of the valuable sockeye salmon.

Estimates of the cost to industry from the IWA strike, now in its fourth week, range above $1,000,000 a day.

The salmon fishermen struck Saturday. They were joined yesterday by about 3,000 shoreworkers and 750 tendermen who transport fish from boat to cannery.

The fishermen want price increases ranging between four and eight cents a pound. The shoreworkers want a 20-cent-an-hour increase and tendermen are demanding a 12-hour day or a quarter-cent-a-pound for all fish carried.

Meanwhile, fishermen are selling fish directly to the consumers with all revenues being turned over to the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union and the Native Brotherhood of B.C., representing Indian fishermen, to help needy families of strikers. Fish are selling at about half the usual retail price and slightly more than the union is demanding from the canneries.

CHIDES BOTH

Premier Bennett Tuesday chided the striking woodworkers and employers in their dispute. He said he feels the operators, represented by Forest Industrial Relations, can afford a better offer than the 12 cents an hour in a two-year contract they have made. He said the increase should be between 10 and 12 cents in a one-year contract.

"The management's offer is not enough and the union's demands are unrealistic," he said.

Naked Thief Captured After Chase in Sewers

RAVENNA, Italy (Reuters) — A starving, naked man, wanted for the theft of a truck, has been captured in the city sewers after a 44-hour underground manhunt. Ivo Calzolari, 24, swam into the sewer from a canal he dived into during a police chase.

New Smoke Coming

NEW YORK (AP) — The Bantob Products Corp., which puts out a cigarette containing no tobacco, is planning to distribute it in Canada. The cigarette is being tested in Dayton, Ohio.

"We're quite pleased with the results," said a spokesman.

The cigarette has a filter and is composed of a patented "natural fibre" (fibria). Its promotion claims it is free from "cigarette tars, nicotine and arsenic."

though the new product is not subject to the eight-cent-a-pack U.S. federal tobacco tax.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Fleesch

A few weeks ago I wrote a column about psychoanalysis, based on a sharp attack by Dr. H. J. Eysenck. Now there's a book, "Psychoanalysis, Scientific Method and Philosophy" (New York University Press), which goes Dr. Eysenck one better. It's the most devastating criticism of psychoanalysis I've ever seen.

The book is a collection of papers read at a meeting in March, 1958. There are 28 papers, half of them by Freudians, the other half by anti-Freudians. The Freudians lose and the anti-Freudians win—by a landslide. The question discussed is whether Freudianism is a proved science or not. The anti-Freudians say no, the Freudians say yes—feebly, unconvin-ingly and without any evidence on their side whatever. Among the dozen or so Freudians who spoke up in defence of their life's work, there wasn't a single one who could offer any facts to prove his case.

The triumphant anti-Freudians didn't pull any punches and pounced upon their enemies with glee.

Simple Question, No Answer

First came Dr. Ernest Nagel of Columbia University, probably the greatest authority on scientific method now living. Discussing Freudianism's claim to be a science, he wound up with "the Scottish verdict: Not proven."

Next came Prof. Sidney Hook of New York University. He said he had a simple question, which he'd asked the Freudians innumerable times since 1919—On what kind of evidence would they admit that a given child did not have an

'Theology,' 'Metaphysics'

Dr. Arthur Pap of Yale said the Freudian explanation of a neurotic symptom by an unconscious wish was like "explaining" the breaking of glass by its brittleness.

Dr. Charles Frankel of Columbia said that "Freud's views have been used as a theology."

Dr. Max Black of Cornell said Freudianism was "the opium of the intellectuals."

And Dr. Michael Scriven of Swarthmore College figured out that the 800 analysts now practising, each making at least $12,500 a year, among them earn about $10,000,000 annually.

Now, since psychoanalysis has never been scientifically proved and is, in Dr. Scriven's words, "the most sophisticated form of metaphysics ever to enjoy support as a scientific theory," how in the world, he asked, can those analysts justify the extraction of $10,000,000 each year from the pockets of sick America?

Sympathetic Queen Comforts Seamen's Widows

POINTE DU CHENE, N.B. (CP) — The first note of sadness in the happy 15,000-mile royal tour occurred Wednesday as the Queen again charmed the weather and kept her appointments between thunder showers.

Just after she boarded the Britannia a rain squall churned the wide waters of Shediac Bay and then a luminous rainbow provided what Maritimers hope is a clear weather omen. There are only three days left of the 45-day tour ending in Halifax Saturday night. The rain held off long enough for the Queen to make a sympathetic and sometimes cheerful visit with survivors and relatives of victims of the Northumberland Strait fishing fleet disaster.

As the Queen spoke quietly to the widows and children, dressed in black and wearing black armbands, she was obviously moved as some told how tragedy had struck their homes.

The little group of disaster victims stood on the wharf-side sad and almost pathetic in comparison to the gay hundreds in shorts and beach garb who had cheered the royal couple down to the dock.

"It was so nice of the Queen to spend the time with us," said Mrs. Burton Chapman of Bay du Vin, one of the widows. "I told her how much we appreciated it and also how much we appreciated her gift to the Fishermen's Disaster Fund."

"She started out by asking me to accept her sympathy and I almost started to cry. She understood and then she said something nice and I felt a lot better."

NO WAR ON HORIZON NIKITA TELLS NIXON

Hecklers Harass Visitor

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has told Vice-President Richard M. Nixon that peaceful co-existence is the only reasonable policy for the world.

Khrushchev told Nixon that he sees no sign of war, but that he wants more proof that the United States desires peace, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

"The Soviet government does everything to prevent war," Tass quoted Khrushchev. "We believe that the bomber does not now point to war. Tendencies towards safeguarding peace prevail in all countries."

SVERDLOVSK, U.S.S.R. (UPI)—Vice-president Richard Nixon ran into harassing give-and-take questioning by four hecklers in Novosibirsk and Sverdlovsk yesterday. He suspected the hecklers were planted among Soviet workers with whom he talked.

In offering a toast to Nixon before he left Novosibirsk, Yuri Zhukov, head of the Soviet committee for cultural relations with foreign countries, was reported to have recalled that American workers threw rotten eggs at first deputy premier Anastas I. Mikoyan when he visited the United States recently.

"Our workers express their point of view by asking questions," Zhukov said. In general, Nixon was received warmly by rank and file workers at Novosibirsk and Sverdlovsk, the "Pittsburgh of the Urals."

The largest and most enthusiastic welcome came from the crowd at industrial Novosibirsk. But this morning, while touring the city's hydroelectric plant and dam, Nixon encountered his first heckling. The foreman, Nikolai Spravitsen, told Nixon, "look at the lovely sky, do you see any iron curtain keeping you from getting through?"

Nixon, defining iron curtain, said, "what we mean is a barrier to ideas."

"We can listen to your broadcasts... you cannot listen to ours because ours are jammed," Nixon added.

"What you say is correct, but how you say it is a dirty slander," the foreman replied.

"Ideas are one thing," the foreman said. "But your broadcasts have proven to be nonsense and dirty slander."

On-Spot Tour

Making an on-the-spot tour of military developments in United Kingdom, Defence Minister George Peakes yesterday inspected Britain's fastest and most revolutionary aircraft, the English Electric Lightning and Fairey Rotodyne. Mr. Peakes returns to Canada Friday.

Barrett Wasn't Surprised

VANCOUVER (CP)—David Barrett, 28, said yesterday he was not "too surprised" when he was fired from his civil service job because he intended to seek nomination as a CCF candidate in the next provincial election.

He said he blamed political discrimination for the loss of his job as personnel officer at the Haney Correctional Institute.

"But there's no value in my being vindictive about their error,"

Admiral Says:

Missile Subs In 1960

WASHINGTON — The chief of the U.S. Navy's $2,600,000,000 Polaris missile program assured Congress yesterday that the submarine-launched rocket will join the fleet in 1960—three years ahead of the original target date.

Rear Adm. William Raborn told a House space committee hearing that the solid-fuel Polaris has "met or exceeded every objective as scheduled for the development program."

"FAILURES"

The committee held its second day of hearings on a series of test "failures" at Cape Canaveral. Chairman

President Eisenhower told his news conference meantime that he does not believe Russia's apparent present superiority in intercontinental ballistic missiles permits it to practise blackmail diplomacy.

LATE START

He said the United States has other means which fully counterbalance Russia's missile strength. Noting Tuesday's successful firing of an Atlas, he noted that Russia has been working on long-range missiles since 1945 and U.S. scientists, who didn't get started until 1954, have done an extraordinary job in keeping even.

Show Restraint

Fewer customers for "Mr. Bonner's stores" was suggested yesterday by Premier Bennett as one way for individuals to achieve a debt-free status such as B.C. boasts. Mr. Bennett was asked how the average citizen could improve his financial position. "Everyone," he said, "should show more restraint in alcohol consumption."

Fliers Found Dead

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bodies of three men and a woman were recovered Wednesday from the wreckage of a light plane on the side of 7,000-foot French Mountain 200 miles north of here, and flown to Kamloops.

Wreckage of the plane in which the four were flying Monday from here to Quesnel, 300 miles north, was spotted earlier in the day. A three-man para-rescue team was dropped at the scene and the bodies were taken out by helicopter.

On board the plane were Donald Patchett, 44, owner and pilot, Herbert Neville, 29, Donald Currie, 38, and his wife, Gwen, 37, all of Quesnel.

The wreckage was eight miles west of the direct flight path to Quesnel.

Patchett, manager-director of a lumber company, was an experienced pilot who had survived two other crashes. It is believed he crashed when trying to get through rough weather.

Hit Rebels

French Drive Ahead

ALGIERS (UPI) — Fresh troops moved yesterday to relieve front-line units of the massive French attack force which has thrust deep into the Algerian rebel heartland of the Kabylia mountains.

Unofficial reports reaching Algiers claimed new and heavy fighting has broken out in the Kabylia region about 60 miles east of here between rebel bands and French combat teams.

The reports gave no casualty figures but described rebel losses as "acute" and said French units had lost few men.

NO CONFIRMATION

Army headquarters in Algiers refused to confirm or deny the reports. Gen. Maurice Challe, supreme French military chief in Algiers, has ordered a complete blackout on army news which might help the guerrillas escape troops pursuing them.

Challe took personal command of the "operation jumelles (binoculars)" drive into Kabylia when it was launched one week ago.

CLEAN-OUT

The announcement that relief troops were being sent into Kabylia underlined official statements that the huge "clean-out" offensive was a long-term operation.

Such troop rotation would enable the French army to keep fresh combat units in the Kabylia offensive at all times.

The object of the "jumelles" drive, one of the biggest ever launched in four and half years of Algerian war, is to pin down and destroy elusive rebel "khatbas" (companies).

'Poisoner' Of Babes Unknown

SAN ANTONIO, TEX. (UPI) — The administrator of the county hospital gave up hope last night of ever finding out who dispensed a virulent poison in place of vitamin C for six babies in the hospital's nursery.

The babies turned blue as the poison, sodium nitrite, spread through their bodies. Two died. A nurse's aide called a doctor in time to save the other four, including twins, by pumping out their stomachs.

William Forster, administrator of the hospital, said he had talked to the nine persons who work in the pharmacy and all denied dispensing the poison to a practical nurse who put it into the babies' formulas.

"As far as I'm concerned it was a pharmaceutical error," he said.

Queen Elizabeth Rammed, 2,000 Aboard Imperilled

NEW YORK (AP)—The luxury liner Queen Elizabeth, largest in the world, collided with a freighter in fog Wednesday in New York harbor.

There were no injuries aboard either vessel, although more than 2,000 lives were momentarily endangered.

The freighter, the American Hunter of the United States Lines stove a hole in the hull of the 83,000-ton Elizabeth above the water line.

With 1,959 passengers aboard, the queen of Britain's merchant fleet was forced to return to her Hudson River berth for repairs. She was only about 90 minutes out of Pier 90, en route to Europe, when the collision occurred at 3:29 p.m. EDT.

As a scar from the collision, the Elizabeth had a five-foot dent with a three-foot hole in her right side about 20 feet back from the bow.

The American Hunter, 10,460 tons, suffered a 20-foot indentation in her bow, also above the waterline.

Both ships were in pilot waters, where trained harbor pilots direct their movements. And the Elizabeth had radar.

Doukhobors Give In on School Issue

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia's troublesome Sons of Freedom Doukhobors are at last attempting to achieve by peaceful co-operation something that four years of demands, threats and violence have failed to accomplish.

In a small, quiet courtroom in this Kootenay Valley centre, 54 Freedomite parents are taking the step they hope will lead to the closing of the "prison" which has held some of their children since the fall of 1954—the provincial government's Freedomite school at nearby New Denver.

A dozen or more parents have already sworn an oath on bread, salt and water—their only recognized oath—that they will send their children to public school this fall if the court grants their release from the New Denver institution. The others have indicated they are prepared to take a similar oath this week.

Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans, a former grocer who has patiently heard scores of Freedomite complaints and tried to solve some of their problems in his 10 years on the bench, will decide Friday whether 75 children should be released.

The New Denver dormitory

was established in 1954 after B.C.'s Social Credit government ordered a "get tough" policy on mass truancy by Freedomite children, whose parents refused to send them to "militaristic" Canadian public schools. RCMP swooped down on the major Doukhobor settlements along the Slokan River, rounded up about 600 truant children, and carried them off to New Denver.

Irate parents protested to the provincial government, which said that the children would be released as soon as the Freedomites undertook to send them to school.

The Freedomites replied with nude demonstrations, the bombing of railways, power poles and government buildings, and threats to kill any policeman who tried to take away any more of their children.

A young Freedomite woman tried to persuade the parents that the best way was to promise to send the children to school. Her house was burned down.

Last year, the firm stand of the government began to have a softening effect. Seventeen children were ordered released by Magistrate Evans after their parents undertook to send them to school. Sixteen of them were sent to school as promised.

Spearman Will Have to Be Sharp

Expert spear fisherman Jim Thorne will have to exercise all his ingenuity this year to get his average catch of 50 salmon. Fisheries officials predict a "very poor" Cowichan River salmon run this year.

Cheque Charge Laid In Duncan Court

DUNCAN — David Christofferson, Victoria, was charged with three counts of obtaining money by false pretences when he appeared in court here yesterday.

No plea was taken by Magistrate A. C. Sutton, who remanded the case until tomorrow.

Police allege Christofferson cashed two worthless cheques and also failed to pay for room and board.

He was arrested Tuesday at Genoa Bay.

Another Victoria man pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding and then complained when his licence was being endorsed.

Magistrate Sutton fined Stanley J. Ownes $25 and said all traffic offences were automatically registered on the licence.

When Ownes started arguing about paying the fine immediately, he was warned by the magistrate to pay up or be "locked-up."

The charge was laid after Ownes was checked by radar on Tuesday near Cobble Hill on the Trans-Canada Highway.

DUNCAN—Sport and commercial fishing in local waters this year is expected to be the worst in recent years.

Fisheries officials expect catches of coho and steelhead to be the worst hit.

"We figure salt-water fishing is going to be poor all round, because 80 per cent of the fish coming in to spawn this year are four-year fish, especially chum salmon," said an official.

There will be few coho caught, the federal department feels, because at the beginning of their three-year cycle in 1956 "indiscriminate" fishing in international waters off Swiftsure and other B.C. points brought in a record catch of 3,050,000 fish on the coast.

Escapement on the Cowichan River that year was only about 36,000 fish, department estimates show.

Cowichan Band Arranges Tour

DUNCAN — Citizenship Minister Ellen Fairclough will be taken on the tour of the Cowichan Indian Reserve here, the biggest in B.C., when she visits Aug. 19.

Chief Elwood Modeste said yesterday she will be shown old and new homes that house the 1,040-member band, see new water systems and meet the 11-member band council.

Phone Building Jobs Let

Victoria firm of Farmer Construction Ltd. has been awarded contracts for construction of new B.C. Telephone Company buildings at Parksville and Chemainus.

Each building will cost about $32,000. Completion of the buildings is due in about four months.

The new buildings will house complex switching equipment which will bring dial service to Parksville and Chemainus in conjunction with the conversion of Nanaimo to automatic service in 1960.

The new Parksville building will face on Harrison Street, behind the present B.C. Telephone Company building, and the Chemainus central office will be on the north side of Willow Street, a half-block west of Mill Street.

Stewart Funeral Friday

FULFORD HARBOR—Funeral services for George Tribe Stewart, 69, a resident of Salt Spring Island for 40 years will be held here at 11 a.m. Friday in St. Mary's Anglican Church.

Mr. Stewart, who was born in 1889 in Helensburgh, Scotland, died Tuesday in the Veterans' Hospital in Victoria. He came to Canada in 1913.

Sudan Protests Sahara A-Bombs

GENEVA (Reuters) — Sudan issued a strong protest through the United Nations economic and social council Wednesday against proposed French nuclear tests in the Sahara.

'Snowballs' In Cowichan

DUNCAN—So much hail fell three miles west of here during a thunderstorm this week that a couple out picking wild berries took "snowballs" home to their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Nimmo, Lake Cowichan, were caught in the storm Monday near Sahlam Elementary School on the Cowichan Lake Road. They said hail fell so thickly "we had a snowball fight and took some home for the children to see."

Contest Saturday

Eight Girls Aspire To Miss Parksville

PARKSVILLE—Eight of the prettiest girls of this district will compete for the honor of being chosen as "Miss Parksville" in the second annual beauty contest to be staged here Saturday.

The winner will go on from here to compete in the "Miss PNE" contest at Vancouver and if fortunate enough to win that title will automatically become "Miss B.C. Lions" and will have the opportunity of trying for the "Miss Grey Cup" title.

First stage of the contest here will be held at the Community Park beach at 4 p.m. when the contestants will parade in bathing costumes and final judging will be held at a gala dance at the Community Hall at 10 p.m. when formal or semi-formal attire will be worn.

Between the first and last stages of the contest a dinner will be held at Benny's Cafe by the beauty contest committee for the contestants and escorts and sponsors at 6 p.m.

Model's Death Ruled Accident

TORONTO (CP)—Red Cross executive Helen McArthur says children are never too young to start teaching them water safety.

Miss McArthur, mothering the water safety program until a regular director is named, has some strong beliefs about water safety.

Since the mother is the one usually supervising the children during swimming periods, she believes the mother should know, understand and practice water safety habits.

Even backyard wading pools can become deathtraps if not properly supervised. All the water should be dumped out when the pool is not in use.

"Mothers should only permit children to swim where they know the condition of the bottom," said Miss McArthur. "If the mother doesn't know, she should get right in and find out."

A varied assortment of unrelated dangers often surround the home. A tricycle can provide the transportation to a nearby lake, river or pond.

Excavations, which arouse the curiosity of most children, are danger zones. After rain, the edges will be slippery and there will be water in the bottom.

Wells and cisterns should be covered with heavy planking. The bathtub is extremely hazardous. Small children should never be left alone in the tub.

Plastic toys are fun on the beach, but a slight breeze will carry them out to deep water. Miss McArthur said mothers should teach their children not to be afraid of the water.

'Never Too Young'

Mothers Should Know About Water Safety

OTTAWA (CP)—A coroner's jury decided Wednesday night that beautiful Joan de Marcy's death in her home early June 19 was accidental.

Miss de Marcy, a model, was found dead with a plastic bag wrapped around her head.

Dr. J. S. Cross, presiding coroner, said: "I think it is a just verdict."

HUSHED ROOM
The dead woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benson Kincaid of Scarborough, Ont., sat impassive as the verdict was read to a hushed courtroom.

"They had insisted that an inquest be called after authorities ruled the death was a suicide."

Hubert de Marcy, 35, husband of the blonde, 29-year-old victim, also showed little reaction.

NEAR TEARS
De Marcy, near tears, had testified he was very much in love with his wife. There were arguments "but they never lasted very long and we always ended up in each other's arms."

He had insisted on an autopsy, the insurance official said, to rule out murder.

SPOKE OF SUICIDE
Fred Farrance, 32, a friend of the model school operator, said Mrs. de Marcy spoke of suicide shortly before her death.

'DOING WELL'
Farrance continued: "I thought she was clowning. I said, 'Joan, there is no good way but these plastic bags seem to be doing very well with babies.'"

He said he asked her why she should want to commit suicide, and she replied: "I haven't anything to thank God or creation for. I didn't ask to be born."

SALAD WEEK

HIGHLIGHTING THE SUMMER SALAD SEASON

Cooling Orange Salad ... Iced Tea with Lemon ...

WHAT A TEMPTING COMBINATION! Tangy fresh Sunkist Oranges make the most appetizing salads. They are such good "mixers", too ... blend so well with other fruits and vegetables in season. And what could be nicer with a salad than a tall refreshing glass of Iced Tea with lemon? It really satisfies thirst. Try it this week.

ORANGE SALAD by Sunkist
4 Sunkist Oranges, peeled and sliced
1 Sunkist grapefruit, peeled and sectioned
2 bananas, in diagonal slices
1 apple, cored and sliced
4 red maraschino cherries
4 sprigs mint
Salad greens
(Makes 4 Servings)
Combine prepared fruit. Arrange on 4 salad plates on bed of lettuce. Garnish each with a maraschino cherry and sprig of mint. Serve with spoonful of Lemon French Dressing.

ICED TEA with LEMON
SO EASY TO MAKE—Prepare hot tea double-strength and pour into tall glasses filled with ice cubes. Add sugar to taste and squeeze quarters of fresh Sunkist Lemons. Cool refreshment that lasts!

CCF Leader Against Labor Court

CCF leader Robert Strachan said last night he didn't think "you could get the people of B.C. to vote for forced labor in the province," which, he said, a labor court would mean.

The opposition leader told the Colonist from Nanaimo he was against a labor court — "It would indicate force, forcing men to work, so I'm against it."

"That's the sort of thing you would have in Russia."

Busy Schedule

Chamber to Urge Fluoridation Vote Despite Setback

Decision of the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee to try to stave off a fluoridation plebiscite for more than a year won't halt a Victoria Chamber of Commerce drive to get a public vote on the issue next December.

"We're disappointed but we'll go ahead, anyway," Mrs. Hill, chairman of a public affairs group committee on fluoridation stated last night.

SECOND BLOW

The decision of the intermunicipal committee to recommend that the issue be held from the public until December, 1960, was the second blow to the hopes of Victoria's fluoridationists in a week.

Earlier the directors of the chamber of commerce refused to endorse the dental health measure, but told its public affairs group to go ahead with its program to seek a vote and place fluoridation facts before the public.

VERY ANNOYED

Earlier yesterday the chairman of the group, Eric Mallett, who was away from the city when the chamber of commerce directorate took its vote, declared "I was very annoyed when I read the outcome of our resolution (on fluoridation) . . ."

He said the decision of the intermunicipal committee "doesn't worry me very much. Our committee under Mrs. Hill will go ahead with its program anyway."

PUBLIC HEALTH MEASURE

He said that the adding of fluorides to water is a public health measure and shouldn't even need a public vote.

"If the vote fails then there is always the provincial legislation approach."

He said he will take up the subject of the chamber of commerce directorate's refusal to endorse the measure at its next meeting.

FIRST MEETING

Mr. Hill, meanwhile, said his fluoridation committee held its first meeting yesterday and will shortly make formal approaches to all four Greater Victoria councils asking for a December vote on the issue.

"After that we'll go ahead with our plan to inform the public of the facts," he said.

Public to Get Pros, Cons

The people of Greater Victoria won't vote on fluoridation of the water 1960, if the intermunicipal committee has its way.

WATERING DOWN

The action followed recent watering-down by the Chamber of Commerce of a public affairs group plan to push for fluoridation and seek a favorable vote in the elections this December. The group was authorized only to conduct an information program.

Coun. G. K. Sammon of Esquimalt, a strong advocate of fluoridation, told intermunicipal committee that "the electors in my opinion are not ready for a poll."

MUCH MORE WORK

Before putting the question to the voters, he said, there should be much more thorough work from the educational point of view than there had been yet.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, who said he didn't know if he would be for it or against it, agreed that the public should have more of the pros and cons before a vote.

He wondered if councils should be asked for "a certain amount of money for a study." "Oh, no!" said Mayor Percy Scarrath.

Oil Land Sale Set in August

Auction of 45 parcels of Crown reserve oil lands, which was to have been held today, has been postponed until 10 a.m. Aug. 14, mines department officials said last night.

The sale is expected to be one of the biggest in the province's history and keen bidding is expected because of plans to build a crude oil pipeline to the northern B.C. fields.

Other Island News On Pages 8 and 9

NANAIMO—An error in judgment in landing led to the crash death at Qualicum Beach, July 22, of Albert Arthur Lutz, 39, of Stuart Island, pilot of a private Cessna seaplane, a coroner's jury found here last night.

The seven-man jury ruled the death accidental with no blame attached to anyone.

The dead flyer was killed when his plane plunged into the water at crowded Qualicum Beach just a few yards off shore while hundreds, including the pilot's wife and young son watched horrified.

He was supposed to pick up the two to fly them back home to Stuart Island. His widow is the sister of Corp. Bud Johnston, RCMP officer at Qualicum Beach where the tragedy occurred.

Two experienced flyers, including a Roman Catholic priest, Rev. William H. Bullock, parish priest at Qualicum Beach, gave evidence at the inquest under Magistrate Thomas Hadfield, Qualicum Beach coroner.

They testified to their belief the pilot had erred in judgment while trying to set down the plane the evening he was killed.

The dead pilot was co-owner of a logging firm at Stuart Island. The plane was registered in the name of the firm.

PORT ALBERNI — Super-Valu softball squad, league leaders during the season of Alberni Valley Softball League, defeated the pulp mill team 5-1 Tuesday to win the play-off here.

With the championship, the team wins the right to represent the Valley league against Campbell River district winner, Aug. 22.

First game will be played at Port Alberni's Recreation Park field.

QUALICUM BEACH — A striking logger, Charles Holt, 55, of Hilliers, was fined $100 by Magistrate Thomas Hadfield at a special court here on charge of indecent exposure.

Big Alberni Outing

UCLUELET — About 100 members of Port Alberni Board of Trade held their annual excursion and picnic at Ucluelet Sunday.

They were welcomed by presidents of Ucluelet and Tofino Chambers, Stan Holme and Thomas Gibson and Tofino and Ucluelet council members.

Two buses of Tofino-Ucluelet Transportation Company as well as many private cars met the visitors on their arrival at Ucluelet and drove them to Long Beach.

At Tofino's new hotel, the Maquinna, the visitors enjoyed a crab dinner.

PORT ALBERNI — Senior petty officer Joe Laminski of Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps "Alberni" is spending the summer with the Royal Canadian Navy at fleet air arm, Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

While there he has had duty in control tower of HMCS Shearwater during flying operations; toured various shore and ship installations and has flown in Avenger and Banshee jets.

Cadet Laminski has previously spent summers at HMCS Quadra at Comox and aboard HMCS Naden at Esquimalt where he took part in the fleet review for HRH Princess Margaret.

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are expected to visit Dartmouth base this Friday.

Blasting on Millstone

NANAIMO — The Nanaimo Civic Properties and Recreation Commission will ask the provincial game department, to allow the blasting of rocks from Millstone River.

The civic properties and recreation commission wish to make a salmon spawning area out of the river.

A survey of the area has been made by the federal government and government officials state the waterway would not attract a sufficient amount of salmon to make the project worthwhile. However the commission plans to go ahead with the scheme.

CHEMINUS — Rev. W. Myhre, pastor of the Cheminus Pentecostal Church, was in charge of an eight-day boys' camp at Parksville last week with 97 boys attending.

The camp program consisted of inspections, swimming, devotional periods, sports and handicraft, and a daily surprise often in the nature of a hike.

First Cheminus Boy Scouts, in charge of Camp Commandant William Fyfe, attended an eight-day camp on the Hunter property on the north-west point of Thetis Island.

Richard Heide, Scout leader, was in charge of all patrols.

ALBERNI — Howe Construction Co. Ltd., of Vancouver with a tender of $36,032 has been successful bidder for construction of a powerhouse for the new waterworks program of Alberni.

A total of five companies bid on the project. The city specifies a 90-day deadline for completion of the project for which construction is expected to begin as soon as preliminary work has been completed.

Powerhouse is to be located on the Somass River just above Paper Mill Dam Falls, about 1½ miles from downtown Alberni.

Firing Exercises

Warships of Pacific Command will hold firing exercises in the waters off Nanos Bay, north of Nanaimo, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today and tomorrow. Taking part are destroyer-escorts Fraser, Margaree, St. Laurent and Skeena.

Further gunnery exercises in the same area will be held from 8 a.m. Friday to 8 a.m. Saturday when the destroyer-escort Ottawa, which has undergone extensive refit, will test her armament.

GANGES — At a well-attended meeting of the ratepayers of the Ganges attendance area of School District No. 64 (Salt-spring) in Ganges Mervin Gardner was elected for an 18-month term, and J. W. A. Green for a six-month term on the board.

A motion was unanimously passed recommending that for annual meetings in future the attendance areas of Ganges and North Salt-spring be combined, which would result in the north division of Salt-spring Island becoming one attendance area represented by four trustees.

Board Chairman George Heineke assured the meeting that this recommendation would be implemented at the next meeting of the board.

NANAIMO — The Nanaimo Kinsmen Club proposal to build an enclosed swimming pool at Bowen Park, has been approved in principle by members of the Nanaimo Civic Properties and Recreation Department.

Each organization in the Hub City will be asked to sponsor a drive during the next 12 months and donate the collected funds towards the pool.

The Kinsmen Club is spearheading the drive, and hope to collect $200,000 for the project. The city will be asked to look after the pool completion.

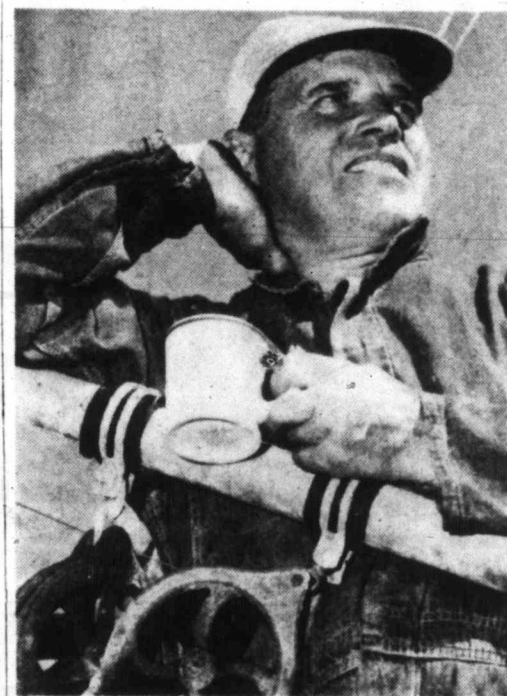

Officials of the club say the pool will be built to Olympic standards.

B.C. Packers Workers Walk Off Job

Strike deadline at 11 a.m. yesterday saw shore workers walk off job at B.C. Packers Ltd. Ogden Point plant. They joined salmon net fishermen, also members of United Fishermen and Allied Workers, who went on strike last Saturday. Dispute has brought B.C.'s $100,000,000 fishing industry to standstill. See story on Page 35.—(Colonist photo.)

Oak Bay Assured

Convicts Here 'Hand-Picked'

Justice Minister Davie Fulton has assured Oak Bay council that federal prison authorities are "making every effort" to carefully screen candidates for Victoria's prison-without-bars at William Head.

Heals of a council request to increase the intensity of the screening process used to determine which prisoners will be sent to the model institution.

Council's request followed a series of escapes from the William Head prison.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said last night he was satisfied with the justice minister's assurances.

"He assured us that none of the prisoners sent to William Head are of the dangerous type and are hand-picked inmates."

"I think those fellows out there are just bored stiff."

"They just seem to want something to get a kick out of, even if it means longer prison terms."

He said the men's apparent harmlessness is probably attested "by the fact that they

City Detectives Still Hunting Young Robber

City detectives are still searching for a teenage youth who stole some $30 from a downtown grocery store yesterday morning in Victoria's first armed holdup this year.

The boy, about 16, demanded "all the money in the till" from Mrs. Dorothy Sing about 11:15 a.m. in the Gordon Head Produce Co., 1126 Blanshard, on the corner of View and Blanshard.

PARKED ON YATES

After the robbery the youth ran along Blanshard to Yates, turned left, and disappeared from view. Detectives believe the boy had a car parked on Yates Street.

Mrs. Sing was alone in the store when the youthful bandit entered—unmasked.

He asked for a packet of chewing gum and tendered a $1 bill. When Mrs. Sing took the money the youth took a revolver from a brown paper bag he was carrying and demanded all the money in the till.

'HELP YOURSELF'

"Help yourself," Mrs. Sing told the boy and he walked behind the counter. Mr. Sing was away from the store with their two small children when the robbery occurred. He returned a few minutes later.

Mrs. Sing described the youth as 15 to 16 years old, about five feet tall, fair complexion and wearing a black windbreaker.

She told police the windbreaker had a crest on it which included the word "Pacific." The boy was wearing a white cap.

Listing of City Voters Will Begin on Monday

Registration of city voters will begin Monday, continuing until the end of September.

Names of property-owners are placed automatically on the voters' list. Tenant and resident electors—renters of business or residential property—whose names were on the list last year will be sent forms by mail and must return them.

New tenant and resident electors must register at the city clerk's office. To be eligible, residents must be British subjects, 21, and must have lived in the city for six months.

Let's Unite

Unions May Face Solidarity

Greater Victoria councils may present a united front to municipal staff unions in future negotiations.

Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich proposed yesterday that the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee, at its next meeting, consider a united approach in dealing with the unions.

One man, he suggested, could be engaged to negotiate with the unions on behalf of all the municipalities and to carry on the necessary continuing research.

The municipal representatives would deal with all the unions except the teachers' association—the policemen, firemen, inside and outside staffs, nurses, library workers, non-teaching school board employees and water board outside employees.

In the past, Greater Victoria council members have complained that the unions, negotiating separately in each municipality, have used each other's gains as levers in seeking wage increases. A united front presumably would be designed to overcome this situation.

Sympathetic Queen Comforts Seamen's Widows

POINTE DU CHENE, N.B. (CP) — The first note of sadness in the happy 15,000-mile royal tour occurred Wednesday as the Queen again charmed the weather and kept her appointments between thunder showers.

Just after she boarded the Britannia a rain squall churned the wide waters of Shediac Bay and then a luminous rainbow provided what Maritimers hope is a clear weather omen. There are only three days left of the 45-day tour ending in Halifax Saturday night. The rain held off long enough for the Queen to make a sympathetic and sometimes cheerful visit with survivors and relatives of victims of the Northumberland Strait fishing fleet disaster.

As the Queen spoke quietly to the widows and children, dressed in black and wearing black armbands, she was obviously moved as some told how tragedy had struck their homes. The little group of disaster victims stood on the wharf-side, sad and almost pathetic in comparison to the gay hundreds in shorts and beach garb who had cheered the royal couple down to the dock. "It was so nice of the Queen to spend the time with us,"

said Mrs. Burton Chapman of Bay du Vin, one of the widows. "I told her how much we appreciated it and also how much we appreciated her gift to the Fishermen's Disaster Fund."

"She started out by asking me to accept her sympathy and I almost started to cry. She understood and then she said something nice and I felt a lot better."

The Queen and Prince spoke to all the family representatives and spent considerable time talking to some individuals.

NEW YORK (AP)—The luxury liner Queen Elizabeth, largest in the world, collided with a freighter in fog Wednesday in New York harbor.

There were no injuries aboard either vessel, although more than 2,000 lives were momentarily endangered.

The freighter, the American Hunter, of the United States Lines, stove a hole in the hull of the 83,000-ton Elizabeth above the water line.

With 1,959 passengers aboard, the queen of Britain's merchant fleet was forced to return to her Hudson River berth for repairs. She was only about 50 minutes out of Pier 90, en route to Europe.

when the collision occurred at 12.25 p.m. PDT.

As a scar from the collision, the Elizabeth had a five-foot dent with a three-foot hole in her right side about 20 feet back from the bow.

The American Hunter, 10,460 tons, suffered a 20-foot indentation in her bow, also above the waterline.

Both ships were in pilot waters, where trained harbor pilots direct their movements. And the Elizabeth had radar.

Doukhobors Give In on School Issue

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia's troublesome Sons of Freedom Doukhobors are at last attempting to achieve by peaceful co-operation something that four years of demands, threats and violence have failed to accomplish.

In a small, quiet courtroom in this Kootenay Valley centre, 34 Freedomite parents are taking the step they hope will lead to the closing of the "prison" which has held some of their children since the fall of 1954—the provincial government dormitory school at nearby New Denver.

A dozen or more parents have already sworn an oath on bread, salt and water—their only recognized oath—that they will send their children to public school this fall if the court grants their release from the New Denver institution. The others have indicated they are prepared to take a similar oath this week.

Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans, a former grocer who has patiently heard scores of Freedomite complaints and settlements along the Skeena River, rounded up about 100 truant children, and carried them off to New Denver.

The New Denver dormitory was established in 1954 after B.C.'s Social Credit government ordered a "get tough" policy on mass truancy by Freedomite children, whose parents refused to send them to "militaristic" Canadian public schools. RCMP swooped down on the major Doukhobor settlements along the Skeena River, rounded up about 100 truant children, and carried them off to New Denver.

A young Freedomite woman tried to persuade the parents that the best way was to promise to send the children to school. Her house was burned down.

Last year, the firm stand of the government began to have a softening effect. Seventeen children were ordered released by Magistrate Evans after their parents undertook to send them to school. Sixteen of them were sent to school as promised.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawyer David Sturdy, who wanted to run against Attorney-General Bonner in Vancouver Point-Grey riding, failed last night to win the Progressive Conservative nomination. Tories chose Dr. Desmond Kidd, candidate for the party leadership last year. Vancouver Alderman Reg Atherton, and housewife Mrs. Peter Poopa,

Hecklers Harass Visitor

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has told Vice-President Richard M. Nixon that peaceful co-existence is the only reasonable policy for the world.

Khrushchev told Nixon that he sees no sign of war, but that he wants more proof that the United States desires peace, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

"The Soviet government does everything to prevent war," Tass quoted Khrushchev. "We believe that the barometer does not now point to war. Tendencies towards safeguarding peace prevail in all countries."

SVERDLOVSK, U.S.S.R. (UPI)—Vice-president Richard Nixon ran into harassing hecklers in Novosibirsk and Sverdlovsk yesterday. He suspected the hecklers were planted among Soviet workers with whom he talked.

In offering a toast to Nixon before he left Novosibirsk, Yuri Zhukov, head of the Soviet committee for cultural relations with foreign countries, was reported to have recalled that American workers threw rotten eggs at first deputy premier Anastas I. Mikoyan when he visited the United States recently.

"Our workers express their point of view by asking questions," Zhukov said.

In general, Nixon was received warmly by rank and file workers at Novosibirsk in western Siberia and Sverdlovsk, the "Pittsburgh of the Urals."

The largest and most enthusiastic welcome came from the crowd at industrial Novosibirsk. But at the city's hydro-electric plant and dam, Nixon encountered his first heckling.

The foreman, Nikolai Spravchenko, told Nixon, "Look at the lovely sky, do you see any iron curtain keeping you from getting through?"

Nixon, defining iron curtain, said, "What we mean is a barrier to ideas. We can listen to your broadcasts . . . you cannot listen to ours because ours are jammed," Nixon added.

"What you say is correct, but how you say it is a dirty slander," the foreman replied. "Ideas are one thing," the foreman said. "But your broadcasts have proven to be nonsense and dirty slander."

On-Spot Tour

Making an on-the-spot tour of military developments in United Kingdom, Defence Minister George Peakes yesterday inspected Britain's fastest and most revolutionary aircraft, the English Electric Lightning and Fairley Rotodyne. Mr. Peakes returns to Canada Friday.

Barrett Wasn't Surprised

VANCOUVER (CP)—David Barrett, 28, said yesterday he was not "too surprised" when he was fired from his civil service job because he intended to seek nomination as a CCF candidate in the next provincial election.

He said he blamed political discrimination for the loss of his job as personnel officer at the Haney Correctional Institute.

"But there's no value in my being vindictive about their error,"

Admiral Says:

Missile Subs In 1960

WASHINGTON — The chief of the U.S. Navy's $2,600,000,000 Polaris missile program assured Congress yesterday that the submarine-launched rocket will join the fleet in 1960—three years ahead of the original target date.

Rear Adm. William Raborn told a House space committee hearing that the solid-fuel Polaris has "met or exceeded every objective as scheduled for the development program."

TEST FAILURES

The committee held its second day of hearings on a series of test "failures" at Cape Canaveral.

President Eisenhower told his news conference meantime that he does not believe Russia's apparent present superiority in intercontinental ballistic missiles permits it to practise blackmail diplomacy.

LATE START

He said the United States has other means which fully counterbalance Russia's missile strength. Noting Tuesday's successful firing of an Atlas, he noted that Russia has been working on long-range missiles since 1945 and U.S. scientists, who didn't get started until 1954, have done an extraordinary job in keeping even.

Ferry Rescues Four Off Nanaimo Harbor

NANAIMO—A Vancouver school teacher, his wife and two children were rescued here Wednesday after their 36-foot converted lifeboat sprang a leak and sank.

The family was picked up off Entrance Island by the CPE ferry Princess of Nanaimo.

Everett J. Wilks, his wife Rene, their son Leslie, 11, and daughter Leigh, 9, were on a holiday cruise in the former government lifeboat "Tofino Belle" when they noticed water coming up over the floorboards.

When he found he couldn't pump the water out fast enough, Mr. Wilks launched the two dinghies he had aboard. Shortly afterwards they flagged down the CPE ferry.

Show Restraint

Fewer customers for "Mr. Bonner's stores" was suggested yesterday by Premier Bennett as one way for individuals to achieve a debt-free status such as B.C. boasts. Mr. Bennett was asked how the average citizen could improve his financial position. "Everyone," he said, "should show more restraint in alcohol consumption."

Fliers Found Dead

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bodies of three men and a woman were recovered Wednesday from the wreckage of a light plane on the side of 7,000-foot French Mountain, 200 miles north of here, and flown to Kamloops.

Wreckage of the plane in which the four were flying Monday from here to Quesnel, 300 miles north, was spotted earlier in the day. A three-man para-rescue team was dropped at the scene and the bodies were taken out by helicopter.

On board the plane were Donald Patchett, 44, owner and pilot, Herbert Neville, 29, Donald Currie, 38, and his wife, Gwen, 37, all of Quesnel.

The wreckage was eight miles west of the direct flight path to Quesnel.

Patchett, manager-director of a lumber company, was an experienced pilot who had survived two other crashes. It is believed he crashed when trying to get through rough weather.

Hit Rebels

French Drive Ahead

ALGIERS (UPI) — Fresh troops moved up yesterday to relieve front-line units of the massive French attack force which has thrust deep into the Algerian rebel heartland of the Kabylia mountains.

Unofficial reports reaching Algiers claimed new and heavy fighting has broken out in the Kabylia region about 60 miles east of here between rebel bands and French combat teams.

The reports gave no casualty figures but described rebel losses as "acute" and said French units had lost few men. Army headquarters in Algiers refused to confirm or deny the reports. Gen. Maurice Challe, supreme French military chief in Algiers, has ordered a complete blackout on army news which might help the guerrillas escape troops pursuing them.

Challe took personal command of the "operation jumelles (binoculars)" drive into Kabylia when it was launched one week ago.

The object of the "jumelles" drive, one of the biggest ever launched in four and half years of Algerian war, is to pin down and destroy elusive rebel "katibas" (companies).

'Poisoner' Of Babes Unknown

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — The administrator of the county hospital gave up hope last night of ever finding out who dispensed a virulent poison in place of vitamin C for six babies in the hospital's nursery.

The babies turned blue as the poison, sodium nitrite, spread through their bodies. Two died. A nurse, also called a doctor in time to save the other four, including twins, by pumping out their stomachs.

William Forster, administrator of the hospital, said he had talked to the nine persons who work in the pharmacy and all denied dispensing the poison to a practical nurse who put it into the babies' formulae.

Sturdy Loses Nomination

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawyer David Sturdy, who wanted to run against Attorney-General Bonner in Vancouver Point-Grey riding, failed last night to win the Progressive Conservative nomination. Tories chose Dr. Desmond Kidd, candidate for the party leadership last year. Vancouver Alderman Reg Atherton, and housewife Mrs. Peter Poopa,
